

Traffic Kills 13 On Weekend To Equal Record

By The Associated Press
Thirteen traffic fatalities during the weekend boosted Michigan's highway death toll to a record-equaling 2,298 in 1968.

State Police said that with eight days left this year, and fatalities occurring at the rate of six a day, Michigan would count its worst year in history in traffic deaths.

The 2,298 fatalities in 1966 was the record for any previous year.

The Associated Press count of weekend traffic deaths began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The fatality which brought the state to its record-matching toll was that of 43-year-old Leo A. Czarnecki of South Bend, Ind. Czarnecki was killed Sunday night when he was hit by a car while walking along U.S. 31 near Niles in the southwestern corner of the state.

Others killed were: Marion Offill, 51, and his wife, Leola, 52, of Flint, when their car skidded on a slippery road and smashed into a tree Sunday night in Saginaw County.

Richard C. James, 37, of Central Lake, who was a passenger in a car involved in a head-on collision Sunday evening on M75 near Boyne City.

Kenneth Jenson, 11, of Battle Creek, when he was hit by a car Sunday in Battle Creek. Police said the driver, Walter Dozier, 31, of Battle Creek, was charged with negligent homicide.

Robert E. Davis, 59, of Bay City, whose car hit a tree Saturday in Bay City.

Pueblo Crew Beaten Just Before Release

Concentrated Terror Finale For Crewmen

SEOUL (AP) — North Korea freed the surviving 82 crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo today, and they were being given medical checkups at a hospital near Seoul before flying to rejoin their families in San Diego, Calif.

The Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, told a news conference that he and his men in the two weeks before their release were subjected to "the most concentrated form of terror that I've ever seen or dreamed is possible."

Bucher said about half his crew were beaten badly last week and that many of them still had blackened eyes and bruised ribs.

Bucher added that he thought many in his crew were in "very bad physical condition" from malnutrition. "The bruises and that sort of thing are going to heal up very quickly," he said.

Apology Made
A U.S. military spokesman in Seoul said he did not know how soon the Pueblo men would leave for the United States. But it was thought here they might leave Tuesday.

The spokesman said there were no immediate plans to let the men talk to their families by telephone from Korea.

To win the release of the men after 11 months of captivity, a U.S. representative at the armistice hut in Panmunjom signed a statement apologizing for "the grave acts of espionage committed by the U.S. ship... after having intruded into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea." But first he repudiated the statement and said he was signing it only to free the ship's crew, a procedure to which the North Koreans agreed.

Denied Intrusion
Bucher also told his news conference that at no time did the Pueblo sail within 13 miles of North Korea, let alone inside the 12-mile limit set by the North Korean government.

"The day we were captured we were some 15 to 16 miles from shore when the North Korean ships showed up and began their harassment tactics," he said.

"I surrendered the ship because it was nothing but a slaughter out there and I couldn't see allowing any more people to be slaughtered or killed."

Cong Launches Attacks Before Cease-Fire

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command launched a series of heavy attacks across South Vietnam during the weekend preceding the start tonight of its three-day Christmas cease-fire.

The heaviest fighting, often at hand-to-hand range with mortars and rockets falling on American troops at the rate of 100 a minute, raged only six miles from the truce site where U.S. and Viet Cong representatives are to meet Christmas Day to discuss the release of three American prisoners.

A force of 1,500 freshly equipped North Vietnamese soldiers stormed out of Cambodia Sunday morning and lost at least 103 dead and a huge pile of weapons and ammunition in a six-hour attack on an American patrol base 44 miles northwest of Saigon.

Outnumbered 3-1
The U.S. infantrymen, in deep bunkers but outnumbered by about three-to-one, reported 17 of their men killed and 12 wounded. Bazooka-firing North Vietnamese torpedoes their way through the barbed wire and fought in the trenches connecting the bunkers. At least 30 enemy bodies were strung along the barbed wire.

Six American B52 bombers attacked positions within three miles of the patrol base and of the truce site early today, dropping nearly 200 tons of explosives on "enemy activity, base camps, storage areas and bunker complexes," the U.S. Command said.

Closer to Saigon, 400 North Vietnamese troops slashed into a South Vietnamese infantry company 16 miles southeast of the capital and triggered a seven-hour battle that raged until early today.

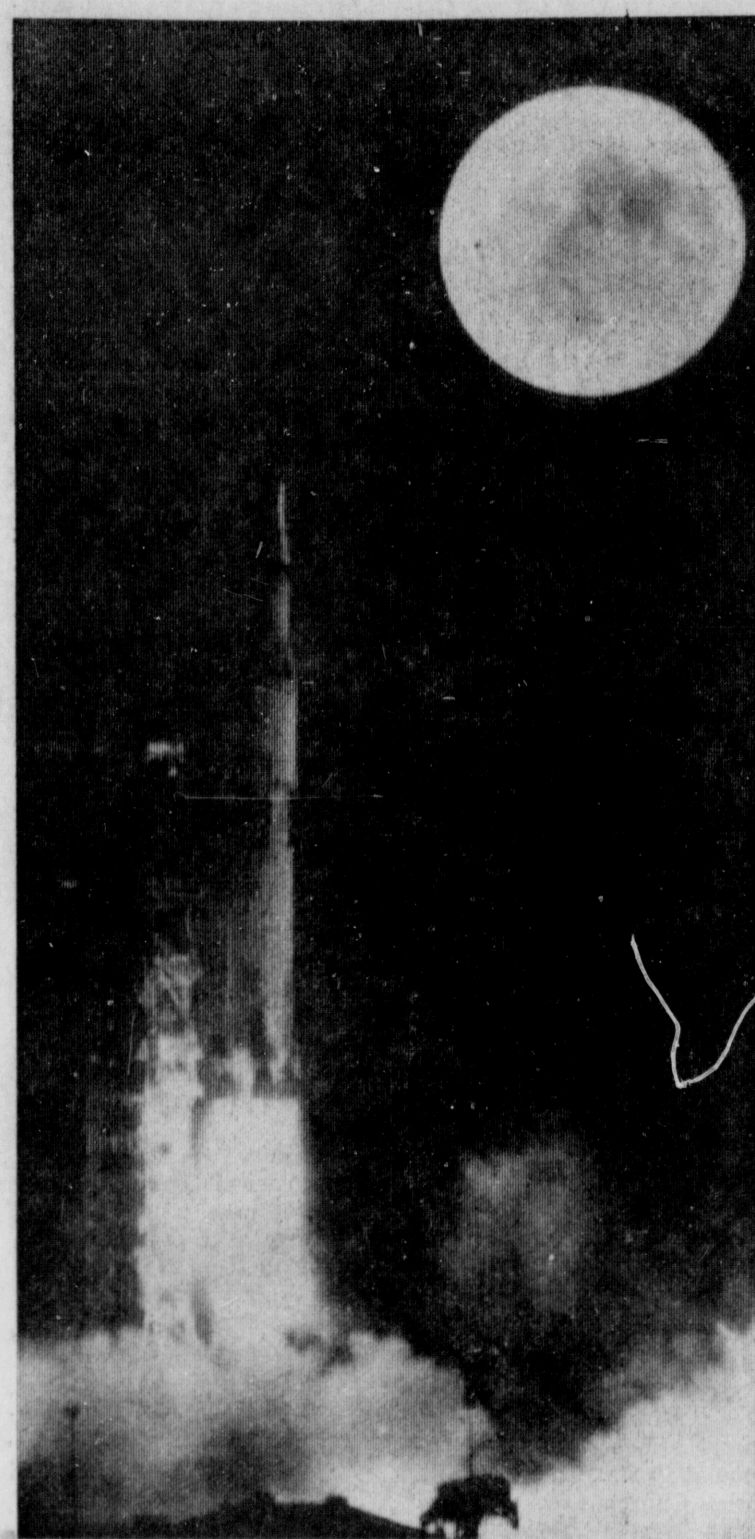

Rocket Attack
The North Vietnamese killed 12 government soldiers and wounded 36 out of the 150-man company before two U.S. Navy helicopter gunships helped break up the three-prong attack. A government spokesman said a sweep of the battlefield at daybreak turned up 64 enemy bodies and 22 abandoned weapons.

During the night Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners also fired 100 rounds of 100-pound rockets and mortars at three allied air bases and the headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division.

Four rockets fell short and crashed into a sleeping village on the outskirts of the Da Nang air base, killing 12 civilians and wounding 19. Several American troops also were reported wounded at Da Nang, but there were no reports of any U.S. planes hit.

Apollo 8 commander Frank Borman reported: "We're looking ahead, of course, to tomorrow, when we'll be just 60 miles from the moon."

Lunney said, "We're in good shape as far as the consumables are concerned—the fuel, oxygen and hydrogen."

Supplies Adequate
He said that the course of Apollo 8 was so perfect that a midcourse correction planned today had been canceled. He said a small correction change would be made about five hours before the astronauts are to reach lunar orbit.

Borman sounded chipper today in a conversation with Astronaut Michael Collins, the ground communicator at Mission Control Center.

"We're all feeling fine," he said and commented that the extra sleep allotted each man had helped them combat illnesses that plagued them Sunday.

Shopping Days
Collins read him the news and football scores from the "Interstellar Times" and reminded Borman there are only two more shopping days until Christmas.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The first televised view of earth from deep space was a flop Sunday—but not to the mother of astronaut James A. Lovell Jr. No mother ever got a son's birthday greeting from farther away.

Experts at the Space Center were still trying early today to come up with a solution to Apollo 8's television problem for today's telecast.

Sunday's show, the first of seven planned for the Apollo 8 moon mission, was to have been in two parts. First, the interior of the spacecraft with a wideangle lens; then a telephoto view of the receding earth that should have shown all of the United States, western Canada, the Gulf of Mexico and down to half of Antarctica.

The interior shots transmitted from 140,000 miles away were beautiful but when Anders put on the telephoto lens the screen went blank.

Ky Suggests Direct Saigon-Vietcong Talks

PARIS (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam raised the prospect of direct Saigon-Viet Cong talks as a Christmas lull settled on the negotiations in Paris.

Ky was on his way home today to talk with President Nguyen Van Thieu, and all delegations began an informal Christmas recess with no agreement in sight on how to start their four-way conference on ending the Vietnam war.

Before he departed Sunday, Ky told a CBS panel that his government will never accept the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front "as an entity, but its reality."

"Once we recognize its reality, we have to face this reality and try to solve it," he said. Ky said several times he would propose to Thieu direct contacts between their government and its opposition in South Vietnam, including the NLF leaders. But his imperfect English made his precise meaning unclear.

His talk of accepting the Viet Cong's "reality" appeared to envisage an entirely new policy toward the NLF, but at other times he seemed to restate the old Saigon offer to talk directly with individual NLF leaders who openly relinquish their Communist allegiance.

Ky stressed that such contacts would have to take place in South Vietnam, not Paris, and that the Saigon government would not recognize the NLF as an equal. And he said once again that there could be "no question of a coalition with the Communists."

CBS broadcast the Ky interview Sunday on its "Face the Nation" program. Shortly after the broadcast, Hanoi's chief negotiator, Xuan Thuy, told a Paris rally the peace conference can only get off the ground "when a government has been set up in Saigon which really wants to negotiate with the National Liberation Front."

Kidnaper Held On $500,000 Bond

Faith In God Sustained Mackle

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Barbara Jane Mackle, ransomed from a live burial for half a million dollars, clung to her father's arm Sunday as the wealthy land developer explained he met kidnapers' demands because "I had my faith to go on."

Robert Mackle and his daughter met newsmen Sunday for the first time since her release Friday. The meeting was on the patio of Miami Heart Institute where Barbara is recuperating from an 80-hour burial in a coffin-like box.

Faith in God sustained the family throughout the ordeal, Mackle said, even as he paid a fortune to ransom Barbara without knowing she was alive.

SHOPPING DAY 'TIL CHRISTMAS

"Our first and deepest thanks—those of myself and Mrs. Mackle, our son and our daughter, Barbara—are to Almighty God, who in His infinite mercy has seen fit to return our beloved daughter safely to our family," Mackle said.

Lost 10 Pounds

Barbara was freed from the box when the kidnapers, ransom money in hand, telephoned the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Atlanta with directions to the site of her North Georgia burial. Weakened, dehydrated and 10 pounds lighter, Barbara smiled radiantly Sunday.

"I just feel wonderful and I just want to thank everybody for their prayers and their concern for both myself and my family," she said.

A few hours later Gary Steven Krist, a husky 23-year-old escaped convict, was booked into the Dade County jail in Miami on a kidnaping charge.

Krist was held in a safety cell in lieu of $500,000 bond, the amount of the ransom.

Carried $18,000
A posse captured Krist early Sunday on wild, swampy Hog Island on Florida's lower Gulf Coast. The FBI said he carried a suitcase containing about $18,000 in $20 bills. Another $480,000 in 20s was found nearby in the rotting hull of an abandoned boat.

The ransom was paid in used, wrinkled $20s. Krist, suffering from exhaustion, was taken to a Fort Myers hospital where he was later arraigned on the kidnap charge.

Further south, snow depths were considerably reduced, due to rain Sunday and relatively mild overnight temperatures. Alpena reported seven inches by early morning, West Branch had six and Mio five. Lansing showed one inch and Flint only a trace. Two inches were reported at Jackson.

Herman Over 100

The overnight snowfall added to season totals of 101.1 inches since November at Herman southeast of L'Anse au Loup in the Keweenaw Peninsula reported a season total of 75 inches, and 60 inches were recorded through the weekend at Memorial Airport between Hancock and Calumet.

Taxi drivers in the Upper Peninsula Houghton-Hancock area agreed not to take passengers over unpaved roads.

At Green Bay, Wis., the Michigan Tech hockey team, victorious after several years of sponsoring the Great Lakes Invitational Hockey Tournament, waited for a bus to arrive early today from Houghton. Their plane was grounded at Green Bay when officials suspended indefinitely flights north of there.

Ore Carriers

Masters of ships still moving through the Great Lakes reported reduced visibility but only moderate winds. The Coast Guard said three large ore carriers were waiting out the storm at Portage Lake before proceeding to Two Harbors, Minn. The three, the A.H. Ferbert, the Philip Clarke and the Enders M. Voorhees, all over 580 feet in length, were participating in a test extension of the shipping season.

Further south, the Coast Guard cutter Bramble freed a 250-foot Canadian cargo ship, the Imperial Windsor which became stranded on ice for 2½ hours in Lake St. Clair off Grosse Pointe. The vessel was loaded with gasoline and turbo fuel.

ROBERT MACKLE, left, smiles, as he helps his daughter, Barbara Jane, from an automobile at the Atlanta Municipal Airport Friday night. The 20-year-old coed was kidnaped at gunpoint Tuesday from a motel just outside Atlanta. It was reported that the father paid $500,000 ransom for her return. She was found buried in a dark coffin-like box 18 inches underground in a heavily wooded, isolated area northeast of Atlanta. (AP Wirephoto)

The FBI refused comment Sunday on its search for Ruth Eisemann-Schier, 26, for whom it also has issued a kidnap warrant. She worked alongside Krist at the University of Miami Institute of Marine Science.

The FBI also refused to say whether other persons were sought in connection with the kidnaping.

Traced Car, Boat

Krist was identified by the FBI through a tracer on license plates found on a car abandoned by two men during an aborted attempt to collect the ransom Thursday. The $500,000 was again dropped for the kidnapers in a Miami shopping center parking lot Friday morning.

The FBI said a car rented in Miami Springs under the name of George Deacon—a Krist alias—was found Friday at West Palm Beach.

A boat dealer at West Palm Beach said he sold a $2,300 boat to an "Arthur Horowitz," who paid for it with $20 bills from a money-stuffed suitcase.

The boat traveled the St. Lucie and Caloosahatchee canals to Florida's West Coast Friday night and Saturday, the FBI said. The Horowitz name was signed to forms at four navigation locks.

The FBI closed in on its quarry Saturday when agents in helicopters spotted Krist's boat in the mouth of Charlotte Harbor. He beached the boat on Hog Island and was found in the mangrove swamps about 12 hours later.

Harland Lippold Home Tops City In Lighting

Winners of the Escanaba Lions Club-City of Escanaba Christmas house lighting contest were announced today by Gary Barton, chairman of the club's committee in charge, after a review of yuletide electric displays which the 5 man judging committee rated "the most attractive ever" in Escanaba.

The winners:

First Prize: $50, to Mr. and Mrs. Harland Lippold, 1115 S. 15th St., for outlining their home in lights, and creating illuminated displays on the roof with a Santa and revolving Christmas tree, and yard displays of carolers and candles. The whole display employs hundreds of lights.

Second Prize: $30, to Mr. and Mrs. James Vicenzi, 700 Bay St.

Third Prize: $20, to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard LaPlaut, 1827 9th Ave. N.

Honorable mention was given to the Christmas displays at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Johnson, 720 Lake Shore Drive, and to that of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gajewski, 1707 17th Ave. S.

"I believe that we have many more lighted homes than in the past few years," said Barton. "The committee was impressed with the general light-up program in the city."

"It makes an evening tour of Escanaba in this holiday period a very rewarding experience, with lights everywhere, beckoning the traveler on and on. The North Side is very well represented in the lighting program; there is hardly a major neighborhood of the city without attractive displays and the Goulais Addition, Sylvan Point and Bay St.-Ogden Ave., areas all are specially bright with lighting."

Women Behind Men In College Enrollment

A study of the status of women in Michigan institutions of higher education just released by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission shows that women lag behind men in college enrollment, length of stay in college, and in variety of career choices.

"The findings of this study demonstrate that one of this state's major resources, the abilities and talents of its women, is being under-utilized," stated Commissioner Mrs. Frank W. Wylie. "Unfortunately, this reflects a national pattern which reveals that this country has not done enough to encourage its female citizens to participate fully and productively in the broad range of employment opportunities."

Major findings were:

1. Women comprise 38.2 percent of the state's higher education students, the same percentage as in 1960. Further, the percentage of women enrolled drops as students move up the educational scale from freshman to graduate student.
2. Women are more likely than men to withdraw from college before the end of four years, and less likely than men to go on to graduate school.
3. For women, the most important source of financial aid during college is the parental pocketbook. For men, it is a job.
4. Women choose courses of study in college that lead primarily to teaching, nursing and clerical positions. They are noticeably absent from courses leading to the engineering, administration, technical and physical and life science occupations.

Teaching is still the overwhelming career in education. The next most popular fields for women were health service occupations, primarily nursing, chosen by 9.2 per cent; business and administration, 5.74 per cent; clerical work, 5.3 per cent; humanities, 4.2 per cent; social sciences, 2.9 per cent; physical and life sciences 2.4 per cent, and art 1.9 per cent.

LBJ Gives Suggestions For Balancing Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, giving an advance peek at some suggestions he's likely to make in his final economic message, has called for continuing stringent efforts to control the balance of payments deficit.

The direction of Johnson's recommendations for 1969 which will go to Congress some time before he steps out Jan. 20, was indicated Sunday in an exchange of letters between the President and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

Johnson endorsed recommendations in a report prepared by Fowler as chairman of the Cabinet on Balance of Payments on ways to further reduce the deficit.

The recommendations amounted to further doses of the medicine Johnson prescribed Jan. 1, 1967 to curb the imbalance between spending by Americans and the U.S. government abroad over what this country receives from abroad.

Head For Trouble

But at least one of the recommendations—continued limits on capital and other investments U.S. firms can make abroad—could be headed for trouble if included in Johnson's final economic message.

Economic advisers to President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who will have to decide which measures to continue, have spoken against these limitations.

And some of Johnson's own advisers have, too.

Johnson said the recommendations on the balance of payments were being readied now "to facilitate an effective transition to the new administration and the orderly development of future policies in this important area."

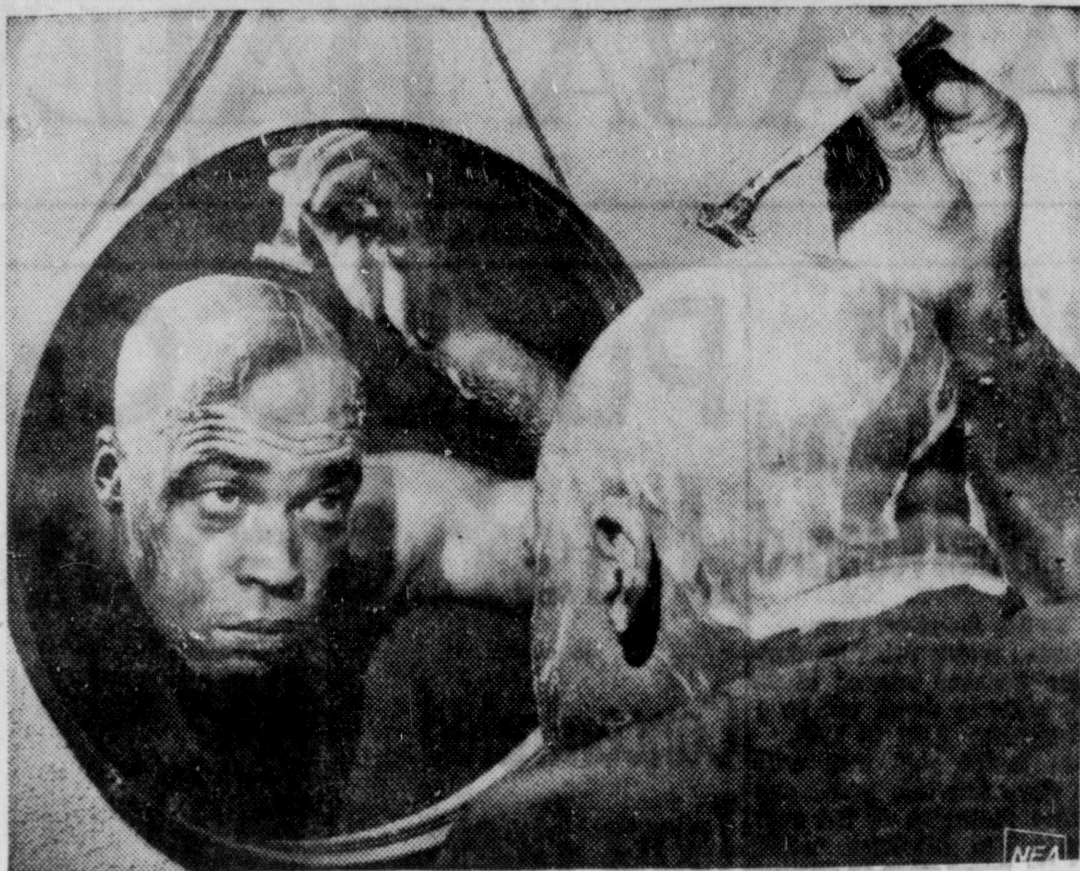

Fowler's report gives top priority to "a stable economy

Milliken Had Part In 'Traverse City Pact'

By JIM NICHOLS

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new governor-to-be, Bill Milliken, has taken part in the over-all state policies which evolved under Gov. George Romney.

In fact Milliken was a Romney-style Republican before Romney won the governorship in 1962.

More than a year before Romney's first inaugural Milliken, then in the State Senate, hosted seven other moderate state Republicans at his home in Traverse City for a three-day session about the problems facing the state.

Out of it came a 19-page position paper dubbed the Traverse City pact. And out of that came many of the programs which Romney adopted during his years in office.

"It became his program," one of the Traverse City eight said recently. "Hell, he didn't even have a program when he first took over as governor."

One Remains

Of the eight Republicans at the Traverse City meeting, only one is still in the Senate. But gone also are most of the conservative GOP ruling group which the eight moderates challenged with their 1961 statement of principle.

Much of the pact is outdated now and many of its recommendations have become law, but it's worth rereading now that a curious state is waiting for a good look at its new governor.

The eight senators declared their object was "to reach agreement on a constructive program in various fields of public service. We believe such a program is essential to the future growth of Michigan."

"It is our intention," they asserted, "to work within the (Republican) party structure to win approval of a forward-looking action program for Michigan."

Avoid Extremes

They noted that Democrats then controlled the governorship and had for 14 years, warning that the GOP "must make a critical appraisal" of itself or face the danger of being "doomed to the role of a minority party in this state for a long time to come."

"We must disavow the excesses of both the extreme left and of the extreme right in our program and our political thinking..." the eight senators agreed. "Republicanism in Michigan must be representative of every element in the community."

Getting down to specifics, the group called for tax reform—another anathema to the conservative wing of the legislative GOP. They did not mention a state income tax, but said the state property tax even then was inadequate and local units needed fiscal help.

Pay-As-You-Go

They pledged themselves to voting for enough revenue to abolish the $64 million state budget deficit. "We believe that fiscal responsibility demands a program which will place Michigan on a pay-as-you-go basis and liquidate the state debt," they said.

On civil rights, the group's statement sounds strangely contemporary. "The voice of moderation must prevail in the end," they warned.

"Otherwise the field will be vacated to the extremist and his followers."

They said it was necessary "to move steadily forward in

Both Romney, Milliken To Sign State Message

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney and Lt. Gov. William Milliken, swapping quips at a joint news conference today, said they had reached a three-point compromise on one set of problems connected with transfer of the state's executive power.

Romney, meanwhile, repeated that he will not resign as governor until after the U.S. Senate confirms him as secretary of housing and urban development, which probably will occur late in January.

With Milliken unable to take over the governorship until then, some observers had wondered who would take responsibility for the traditional governor's state of the state message and presentation of the executive budget.

Agreement

Romney and Milliken said they had agreed on this formula:

—Both men will sign the state of the state message, traditionally delivered at a joint legislative session in January, but Milliken will present it after Romney makes a few remarks.

—Romney then will appear on a statewide radio-television program Jan. 6, giving his own views on problems which face the state; an unofficial address for which Milliken will not share responsibility.

—Both officials also will sign the budget message, thus taking joint responsibility for the spending proposals it will contain.

The state attorney general's office said Milliken could read the state of the state message as long as Romney signs it. The State Constitution requires the governor to submit such a message to the Legislature.

Responsible

"The problem is," Romney said, "that the lieutenant governor will be the one responsible for getting the programs outlined in the state of the state message."

Work on the budget, meanwhile, is near completion and will bear the mark of the Romney administration.

But Milliken said he had been consulting on spending problems with Romney for several months. "I'm certainly satisfied with the budget which will be presented," Milliken said.

Both men appeared relaxed and laughed easily. Romney said he would spend Tuesday afternoon greeting shoppers at a major Detroit intersection as he traditionally does the day before Christmas.

Traverse City

"I don't plan to be greeting shoppers in Detroit," laughed Milliken. "I may well be encouraging shoppers in Traverse City." Milliken's family owns a department store there.

Milliken said he hadn't yet picked out a sweater to wear as governor—"and when I do I don't know if it will be blue or brown or what." A blue sweater is a long-time Romney trademark.

"I don't think the sweater goes with the office," Romney said. "and neither does this desk. I moved this desk in here myself."

"We'll have to move the old desk back," Milliken said.

Santa's Deer Are Warned of Perils

Santa Claus and his reindeer are due tomorrow night, Tuesday, Christmas Eve but there will be three less Escanaba Area deer to greet them as they go overhead pulling Santa's sleigh.

The three were killed in weekend deer-car accidents, report State Police of the Gladstone Post.

A car driven by William Jaeger, 46, Watson store operator, struck a deer which jumped out in front of his car in Wells Township, Marquette County at 12:15 a.m. Saturday, decapitating the deer. There were no personal injuries but the front and right side of the Jaeger car were damaged.

Duane Williams, 19, of Route 1, Cornell was driver of a car which was damaged in fatal collision with a deer at 11:45 p.m. Friday on County Road 318, 2.3 miles west of County Road 416 in the Flat Rock area. There were no personal injuries.

A car driven by James McIntyre, 28, of Rock killed a deer which jumped into its path on County Road 432 one mile east of Highway 13 at 1:45 a.m. Saturday in Maple Ridge Township. State Police said McIntyre's car was not extensively damaged.

Captured As He Worked At Vault

DETROIT (AP) — Police in the Detroit suburb of Redford today arrested an unidentified man who they said was in the process of robbing a branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust.

Police said the man was found inside the bank, working with an acetylene torch on the night depository. A two-way radio was also found with him. A search of the immediate area turned up the other radio, several blocks away, but no other suspects.

Police said the man, who refused to talk, entered the bank through an air vent on the roof. He later opened a side door, and police went through that door to arrest him.

They said he triggered a silent alarm while using the torch.

San Francisco Fire Destroys Four Stores

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fire ripped through four plush stores in the city's shopping district Sunday night causing what one fire official estimated at more than $5 million in damage—the greatest loss here since the 1906 San Francisco earthquake.

Heavily damaged by the wind-whipped flames was Gump's, an internationally known fine arts emporium which listed more than $1 million in Oriental art objects alone on the second of its three floors.

Also gutted was Schneider's—a fur establishment offering its wares for as much as $40,000 apiece—Auger's Jewelers and Malm's Luggage.

Abercrombie & Fitch received extensive damage from torrents of water. The 180 firemen battling the inferno were hampered by both the wind, which at times exceeded 40 miles an hour, and by 40-degree temperatures. Two firemen were injured by flying glass.

War And Christmas

Christmas always brings a poignant reminder of our men at war.

Our men in Vietnam have had a specially difficult home front situation to understand and to their great credit they have either understood it and forgiven our shortcomings of support for them, or they have exercised a great patriotic faith in America which has covered the situation.

This war is unlike any other in our national history.

The uncertainties that it creates can be seen in the faces of our brave young men who came back from the war and find on the home front no duplication of the solidarity with which our men in Asia face the conflict there.

It is very important that our men know that the nation accords them honor as high as any that it has given to its defenders. This, as has been said by so many military observers, is the best military force which America even has fielded — and this nation has never lost a war.

It seems now in the process of losing one — or at least of seeking withdrawal from a stalemate. This creates the unhappiness in our troops, many of whom must wonder why we don't use the force necessary to win. And it creates difficulty of understanding with the home front.

Our forces have fought bravely and effectively. In our longest war they have suffered more than 30,000 killed and hundreds of thousands wounded. Thirty-two years from now when New Years 2000 is celebrated there will be many men from the Vietnam war in our veterans hospitals. We have won the war in the conventional sense that we have defeated the aggressor, North Vietnam.

But the aggression in South Vietnam is only a symbol of the forces which we oppose there. Russia and Red China are not going to let North Vietnam collapse under American pressure. An American beachhead in Asia is intolerable to them and they have been able at costs tolerable to them to keep us from establishing a satisfactory one.

We face interminable struggle there for an ideal which does not impress the rest of the world, or even our allies. So we have reconsidered and are seeking a political, not a military peace, in talks at Paris.

All things end and this war will end, but our national devotion to the brave men and women who defend our national integrity and security in our wars does not end. Christmas, when the home and the family circle are in such sharp, affectionate focus, is occasion to wish our fighting men well and to thank them for the sacrifices which have made it possible to slow communism in Asia and to bring the immediate foe to the conference table because we have made his outlook there bleak, too, as long as our forces remain.

Our Christmas is greatly troubled by this war which has caused so much dissent and division in the nation. Hopefully the New Year will resolve the issue honorably and end hostilities.

The war has humbled America and bled her and there is a temptation to regard it as a national waste and blunder, but it has been a great lesson, too, that is still being learned. It will be harder to take America into such foreign adventures in the future without due process and this is a gain for the people and democracy. The thought that "There must be a better way" is getting more emphasis and hopefully there will be less influence from the military-industrial complex to solve international dispute with arms.

Lawmakers Urged To Reside In D.C.

By NOEL GROVE
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One Washington wag calls them the Viet Congress.

They are, he says, the nation's lawmakers who lie back in the safety of the suburbs by night and infiltrate the District of Columbia by day to strike at the city. Damages include the crippling of capital subway construction plans, denying new formulas for general municipal operating funds and refusal to negotiate home rule.

Congress keeps its hand firmly on the purse strings of this city of 800,000. As house-hunting runs rampant with the influx of new governmental personnel, a move is under way urging them to live in Washington so they can experience and understand its problems.

Its problems are exactly the reasons most of the 1,000 congressmen and staff members moving here will likely take up residence in nearby Maryland or Virginia. Most newcomers would rather fight commuting traffic than risk the urban front lines, with its law and order issue.

It's bad enough to be under fire on the Hill every day, they say, without being denied R and R in the suburbs by night.

A minor war of words has erupted. Three House members wrote letters urging new members to settle in Washington. Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va.), who lives in the suburbs, retaliated by assuring new colleagues that "you need not live in the District of Columbia in order to perform your constitutional obligations to it."

Last week President-elect Richard Nixon got into the act by indicating support of settling in the District. After all, he will, albeit with iron fence and the Secret Service.

But nobody will be surprised if the big move is to the suburbs, giving Washington residents fuel for more complaints about their absentee controllers and sarcastic lines about the "Viet Congress."

Negotiating for a home in suburban safety may assure new lawmakers a niche of graceful domesticity, but capital residents question whether it's a just and honorable peace.

Venus Mistaken For Apollo 8

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A bright spot seen in the night sky by several Kalamazoo-area residents this weekend resulted in speculation they might be seeing the Apollo 8 capsule carrying three astronauts to the moon.

But it wasn't. It was the planet Venus, said Dr. Hym Kruglak, professor of astronomy at Western Michigan University. He added that Venus has been unusually bright the past couple of months.

In Houston, officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it would be impossible to see reflections of the capsule with the naked eye. "Only an observatory with a large telescope would be able to do it," a spokesman said.

Capture Escapee After Knife Assault On Couple

QUINCY (AP)—State Police tracked down a Southern Michigan Prison escapee in a snowy woods near Quincy Sunday and charged him with assault with intent to commit murder in a knife attack on a man and wife.

Using a police tracking dog on a two-mile trek through the woods, Trooper Stephen Smith recaptured the escapee, Neil Henderson, 27, after finding him sitting exhausted in the snow.

Officers said Henderson surrendered without a fight and gave up a prison knife. Police said Henderson fled the Lilly Farm of Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson in a station wagon early Sunday.

The vehicle crashed into a ditch near Quincy, they said. Officers said Mr. and Mrs. John Ogurchak heard the crash and invited the driver into their home.

When Mrs. Ogurchak suggested calling the police about the accident, the couple said, the man began flailing at them with a knife.

The Ogurchaks were treated at a Coldwater hospital for multiple cuts and were released. A number of children in the Ogurchak home were unharmed, police said.

Officers said Henderson had been serving 7½ to 20 years at the prison on a July 9, 1965, conviction for armed robbery in Kent County.

WATERFORD (AP)—Police Sunday described as apparent case of murder and suicide the shooting deaths of a Waterford father and his son. Officers said it appeared that the son shot his father with a .22-caliber derringer, then turned the gun on himself.

Oswald: "Remember the old story about the man who just happened to bring his bass viol along for the weekend?"

Jim: "When the American team goes to Brazil next May for the World Championship matches they will have their bass viols or specialized bids along with them."

Oswald: "The average player shouldn't bother with most of these bids, but in international play you need them. Why don't you tell me about the Billy Eisenberg and Bobby Golman version of Blackwood?"

Jim: "They figure that they will always have some idea about their partner's ace holding. Hence, the five-club response shows no aces or three; five diamonds shows one ace or four; five hearts two aces and nothing extra, and five spades two aces and something extra. Hence Billy Eisenberg's five-spade response on today's hand shows two aces plus something extra."

Oswald: "That something extra was very good trumps and his diamond suit, including two of the top three honors. It made it easy for Bobby Goldman to bid six spades. The slam based on only 22 high card points in the two hands was, of course, an absolute cinch."

Jim: "There was another gadget used in their bidding. North's jump to four clubs said, 'Partner, I want to be in four spades even if your one-spade response was a minimum and part of my reason for getting there is that I have exactly one club!'"

Oswald: "That singleton club was certainly welcome news to South. His clubs could be ruffed in dummy, if necessary and his singleton heart had to be worth its weight in gold."

Ann Landers

Better To Forget Her Class Reunion

Dear Ann Landers: My sister-in-law has been bragging for years that she still weighs 113 pounds, the same as when she was married 16 years ago. Molly has a good figure but she's no 113 pounds.

Last night we had a party at our house for 10 couples. Everyone was feeling pretty good. Molly was, you might say, stunko. She made the weight brag again — in front of everybody — and it was just once too often for me. I decided to call her bluff and said, "O. K., prove it."

I brought the bathroom scale right into the living room and told her to get on it. Molly bellowed, "You bet I will." With that she kicked off her shoes, whipped off her dress and unhitched her hose from the girdle before anyone could stop her. Her husband dragged her out of the room just as she was unhooking her bra.

Molly's disgraceful behavior is the talk of the town. People have been calling me all morning to ask if it really happened. I'm so mad at her for acting cheap in our home I'd like to kick her in the teeth.

My husband says it's my fault because I baited her. Please give me your opinion of this.

— STILL BURNING

Dear Still: Of course Molly should not have started to peel in your living room, but you invited it, dearie. My opinion is that you should both stick to ginger ale.

Dear Ann Landers: This morning I received an invitation to the Tenth Anniversary of my high school graduation. My mother says if I don't go I will never forgive myself.

I'd love to see the kids again, Ann, but I'm ashamed to have them see me. I used to be attractive and happy-go-lucky, but I've had a lot of tough luck these past 10 years — two lousy marriages — and I look like 48 instead of 28. Last year after a bad operation I put on 25 pounds which I can't get rid of.

I'm presently working as a cocktail waitress because I can make more money at this than teaching school. (I support my invalid mother.) I am not ashamed of my job but I'm afraid my teachers would be disappointed. I was an excellent student and they all predicted great things for me.

Usher At Wedding Is Michigan Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Philip Ordway of Hickory Corners, Mich., one of the eight ushers at the wedding of David Eisenhower and Julie Nixon, says he "sensed a long time ago that they might get married some day."

Ordway, 20, who attended high school with the former President's grandson at Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H., was interviewed Sunday morning in his room at the Waldorf-Astoria.

He said that he and David had kept in touch since their graduation from Exeter, and that David had often mentioned Julie in his letters. "But of course I didn't know what their specific plans were," Ordway said. "He never discussed those."

Survey Shows That Employees Get Break

NEW YORK (AP) — In the spirit of Christmas, a research firm has just delivered a gift to all working men in the form of a survey which might casually be dropped on the boss' desk this evening or early Tuesday.

Most companies, the survey indicates, will give time off or close early Tuesday in order to permit employees to catch up on shopping or get a head start on the Christmas holiday.

Many firms in fact plan to remain closed for the entire day before Christmas and others will work no more than a half day, according to the Bureau of National Affairs.

The early closings are intended to compensate in part for the absence of a long weekend this year. Last year Christmas fell on a Monday, automatically resulting in three work-free days. Next year it comes on a Thursday, meaning a four-day weekend for many workers.

Close Early
The bureau, a private organization that sells its research to business, said that nearly 40 percent of 180 companies throughout the nation will close for the holiday this evening.

The survey found that about one-fourth of the companies will give workers bonuses, often of one or two weeks pay, and that in two-fifths of the companies the boss will toss a party as well. One in five companies will present gifts.

The future of parties, however, doesn't seem to be bright. The study shows that representative of the companies, many of which are among the most royal of the blue chips, voted two-to-one against company sponsored affairs.

"Without alcoholic beverages they are deadly boring; with alcoholic beverages they're dynamite," said one. "Christmas parties for employees are passe."

And by the same margin these corporate spokesmen turned thumbs down on alcohol being served at Christmas parties held on company property. Said D.M. King, personnel director of Lytton's, a Chicago retail store:

Adds To Pleasure
"Alcohol and business don't seem to mix well when a total company group is present. It seems to serve as an excuse for everything except mutual respect shown to one another in business."

Not everyone registered disapproval of liquor. What was described as a sizeable group said liquor added to festivities if the privilege was not abused. Typifying the attitude of this group, P.B. Musgrove, an industrial relations counsel in Peoria, Ill., stated: "If used with moderation, nothing wrong." He works for Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc.

And regardless of the on-site regulations against liquor, a bottle of Scotch or bourbon will perhaps vie this year with calendars as the most popular business gift.

That is, next to time off and a bonus. Nothing beats them.

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 17 A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

IT was Christmas Eve. Only an hour remained to break the spell on Santa Land.

Ding Dong stood on the roof of Santa's workshop and carefully dropped the hippies' popcorn popper down the smoking chimney. When it was in place on the burning coals Ding Dong began to drop kernels of corn, one by one, down the chimney into the popper.

For a moment there was no sound except Heskiah chopping and swatting on his machine. Then, between the whacks of the hammer, Ding Dong heard the soft pop-pop-popping of the corn in the fire-place below.

He dropped the corn faster and faster until it was pouring down the chimney in a river. Now, the hammer blows were silent. There was only the gentle popping of corn.

Edgar the elk scurried to the front of the shop and peeped through the keyhole.

"He's stopped working!" he cried. "The whole shop is filling with popcorn! It's covered his feet! Now his knees! His middle! His neck! He's drowning in popcorn!"

Ding Dong dumped the last of the corn down the chimney. He yelled, "Watch out! He'll be out in a minute!" And he slid to the ground to see the fun.

A moment later the dwarf flung open the door and burst out in a cloud of popcorn. His stumbling feet snapped the three-colored string stretched across the door frame.

The spell on Santa Land was broken. The spinning tops stopped spinning. Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus and all the elves and reindeer were themselves again.

There was such rejoicing! Edgar told Santa all that Ding

"Merry Christmas to All!"

Ding had done and Santa asked what he could do for Ding Dong in return.

Ding Dong said he would like to go home again. "If only I didn't have to be good all the time!" he added with a sigh.

"Being good is just thinking of others," said Santa. "That is something you certainly have done."

"What about taking baths and being polite and picking up toys and all like that?"

"It isn't necessary," said Santa thoughtfully. "But you might say it is a way of thinking of other people."

"I suppose I could give it a try," said Ding Dong reluctantly.

"I don't think it would hurt much," said Santa with a smile. "It probably wouldn't hurt at all."

The elves loaded Santa's sleigh with toys and Mrs. Claus tucked in sacks of cookies. The reindeer were hitched to the sleigh and it was time to go.

Santa climbed in with Ding Dong by his side and off they soared over the great sleeping world. When they came to Hippieville Santa leaned from the sleigh and dropped off an enormous bag of gifts for the hippies below.

The bag bulged with records and strange new musical instruments and magic color paints and weird clothes. Unknown to Santa, Mrs. Claus had slipped tooth brushes, combs and a dozen bars of soap in with all the rest.

The hippies—who never sleep when others sleep—heard the jingling bells of the sleigh and knew that all was well. They rushed into the street shouting joyfully, "Merry Christmas!"

Santa and Ding Dong, circled away, waved and called back, "Merry Christmas to all!"

SUNDAY, DEC. 22 marked the wedding of Julie Nixon, youngest daughter of President-elect Nixon and Dwight David Eisenhower II, only grandson of the former president. They were married during a brief Protestant ceremony in the historic old Marble Collegiate Church in New York.

Julie Nixon, Dwight David Eisenhower II Exchange Vows

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Nixon, youngest daughter of President-elect Nixon, and Dwight David Eisenhower II, only grandson of the former president, were married Sunday in a brief Protestant ceremony in the historic old Marble Collegiate Church in New York.

Julie, 20, said, "Just before coming here I saw the first shots of the Apollo flight and I just heard of the release of the Pueblo crew tonight. Dec. 22 is a lucky day."

The young couple barred news from the wedding and reception, but posed for photographers in a press room at the Hotel Plaza, site of the reception.

Old Fashioned Gown
Julie, 20, radiant in a Victorian, full-skirted, ivory peau d'ange dress with puffed sleeves and a high neck, stood beside the groom, who wore a cutaway. She clutched a modest white bouquet of lily of the valley, narcissus, sweetheart roses and bouvardia. Her illusion veil was held with a crown of seed pearls.

David, also 20, held her hand in both of his, letting go only when she removed her short white gloves to show reporters the diamond choker wedding ring she received in the singling ceremony.

At first somewhat startled when she was addressed as Mrs. Eisenhower, the dark-haired bride fielded questions with composure, refusing only to reveal their wedding trip destination.

Short Trip
"It's a secret," Julie said. The couple was expected to take a short trip before returning to classes on Jan. 2. David is a junior at Amherst College, in Amherst, Mass.; Julie will begin her junior year studies at Smith College in nearby Northampton, where they have rented a $95-a-month apartment.

David, flashing a broad grin, barked at first at kissing Julie for photographers. But goaded by photographers' cries of "chicken!" he pecked her once, then led Julie to the reception upstairs, in the Plaza's Grand Ballroom.

The receiving line lasted for more than an hour outside the Renaissance style room, decorated with pink tablecloths, holiday wreaths, pink candles and green garlands.

Six Tier Cake
A six-tier wedding cake, topped with a tiny bouquet of bouvardia, was wheeled to the center of the ballroom. The couple cut the first pieces together—David's hand over Julie's.

The bride fed David the first piece, then offered her father a slice. Mrs. Nixon was next, and then Sgt. and Mrs. John Mooney of Washington, D.C., who were asked to take some cake to former President and Mrs. Eisenhower, who watched the wedding ceremony on a special television circuit in separate rooms at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

Her Idea
"That was her idea," Nixon told reporters after the 12-minute ceremony. "If she handles all of the great events of her life as well as this marriage, she will be all right."

It was also Julie's idea to substitute the words "thee and thou" in the Reformed Church of America service. The Nixons are Quakers. David, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, is an Episcopalian.

The bride also requested Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, who performed the ceremony, to read Psalm 100, which begins, "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," and Psalm 121: "I will lift up mine eyes..."

"I rather thought this was a

Holiday Services Tuesday At New Christ The King

Pastor Erlend Carlson will mark his 11th Christmas at Christ the King and will bring the message, "Christmas Joy", at both services. The public is invited to attend these Christmas Eve services.

PHYLIS YABUI doesn't have to look far to find the Christmas spirit. Her friends in Goddard Hall at Eastern Michigan University, Ann Arbor, put their thinking caps on in the fall and decided to surprise Phyllis with a trip home to Hawaii for the holidays. And her surprise was genuine, Phyllis, a 20 year old junior education major, thought all along that the money the girls were raising was to be used for a night on the town in Detroit. (AP Wirephoto)

'FOOTIE' SOLITAIRE

If your feet are the neglected part of your anatomy, start paying more attention to them. One important aspect of foot care, which is not only beauty-wise, but health-wise, is a good pedicure. This means filing your toenails straight across, not rounding them on the edges. Clip hang nails, and keep your toenails short.

Beauty Tips

SOFTEN COLORED HAIR
Improving upon your natural hair color can be rewarding, if it's done properly. Colored hair needs lots of constant care to avoid dryness and uneven color. Cream rinse and conditioners can soften the brittle dry hair which often results from bleaching.

PAMPER YOUR HANDS
Protect hands from the ravages of harsh soaps by wearing rubber gloves lined with cotton. And pamper your hands occasionally with an all-night beauty treatment by wearing thin cotton gloves over rich cream to bed.

Wayne Proposes Black College

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne State University, which has some 43 per cent of all Negro students enrolled in Michigan's 12 state-supported colleges, is considering the creation of a separate black college on its campus.

Such a move has been urged by the university's Association of Black Students, and reportedly has backing within and without the university.

The Detroit Catholic Archdiocese donated $37,000 toward the project. An archdiocese spokesman today said the money was for planning of the project. New Detroit Inc., also

Convicts Kicked Their Way Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Twenty-one convicts, three of them sentenced to death, were at large today after kicking their way out of New Orleans' prison.

Louis Heyd, Orleans Parish (county) criminal sheriff, termed the men extremely dangerous. Four were convicted of murder, 12 of armed robbery. All were awaiting the outcome of legal appeals.

The prisoners were missed at a head count at 5:30 a.m. Sunday. But officers figured they broke out about five hours earlier.

"I'm not surprised," said Heyd, who has long complained about prison facilities and conditions. "It was just a matter of kicking through the roof. This damn place is a crackerbox."

Warden A. J. Falkenstein said the men broke into a fourth floor utilities locker room, then into the attic.

From there, they crawled through an air vent to the roof, and moved to the roof of the adjoining Criminal Courts building. They shattered a skylight over a judge's chamber, lowered themselves down on a rope of knotted prison uniforms, broke down a locked door to the second floor corridor and walked out of the unlocked building.

Michigan Fires Claim 8 Lives

By The Associated Press

Fires claimed at least eight lives in Michigan over the weekend. Among the victims were two women aged 90 and 84 and two children.

Flames destroyed a two-story house Sunday in Detroit, killing Jane Hamilton, 90, and Edna Conolly, 84. Officials sought the cause of the blaze.

Three persons were killed in a fire that destroyed a house in Port Huron Saturday night. The victims were identified as George Jackson, 42, and Christine Pinuco, 58, both of Port Huron, and Marianne Dean, 40, of Ontario, Canada. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Two young brothers, Douglas Hull Jr., 6, and Timothy Hull, 4, lost their lives in a fire which destroyed their family's frame home at Boyne City Friday night. Cause of the blaze was under investigation.

Floyd White, 56, was killed Saturday when fire destroyed the one-room shack in which he lived alone about two miles west of Mecosta. Cause of the blaze was unknown.

Celebrities Are Greeting GI's

SAIGON (AP) — Bob Hope's plane lost an engine, Billy Graham preached to 2,000 and Archbishop Terence J. Cooke arrived, each bringing a part of what Christmas is to U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Hope, the 66-year-old comedian whose topical one-liners have brought laughter to front-line GI's in three wars, shrugged off the failure of one of the four engines on the U.S. Air Force C130 that brought him and his 65 entertainers to Saigon.

"I heard a strange noise, the plane lurched and one of the four engines stopped," Hope told a news conference after the plane landed safely. "I jumped into Rosie's arms (Roosevelt Grier, the 300-pound former pro football star) and he held me and burped me twice."

Clad in white shoes and yellow pants and swinging a golf club, Hope later performed his first 90-minute show in 100-degree weather at the Long Binh supply base 20 miles northeast of Saigon to an audience of 30,000 that included U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

"This is the perfect time to come to Vietnam, now that the war has moved to Paris," said Hope. "We know that the bomb halt is working. We flew over the Ho Chi Minh Trail on the way here and nothing was moving—it was the worst traffic jam I ever saw."

Pueblo Crew Beaten Week Before Release

ing the entire crew for no reason."

Four men were wounded when the Pueblo was captured, and one later died.

The Pueblo, a former Army cargo ship equipped with advanced electronic detection equipment, remained in North Korea. The Communists said it had been confiscated and would not be returned.

Evacuation

Army helicopters, each carrying 10 crewmen, took the men to the U.S. 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City, 10 miles outside Seoul, from a U.S. advanced base just south of the demilitarized zone where Bucher gave his interview.

As the helicopters landed, an Army band played "California Here I Come," and medics hustled the men into the hospital building.

A jet transport was waiting at Osan Air Base for the flight to Honolulu and San Diego.

The government was flying the families of many of the men to San Diego for a Christmas reunion, but questioning of the crewmen may continue for weeks after that.

A light snow was falling as Bucher and his men walked across a concrete bridge into the southern half of the demilitarized zone at 11:30 a.m. Korean time.

Carried Coffin

They carried with them a coffin containing the remains of Fireman Duane H. Hodges, 22, of Creswell, Ore., the crew member who died in North Korea after being wounded during the ship's capture off Wonsan by four Communist gunboats on Jan. 23.

Bucher came first over the bridge, accompanied as far as the boundary line at the U.N. Command side by about eight North Korean observers.

The slow procession of men over the bridge took slightly more than a half hour and was accompanied by propaganda broadcasts over North Korean loudspeakers. Two tape recordings, which sounded like Bucher's voice, were replayed continuously confessing "crimes" against North Korea, apologizing for them and telling the North Korean "thank you very much from the bottom of our hearts" for lenient treatment.

From the distance at which newsmen were kept, none of the men appeared seriously hurt. They strode over the bridge deliberately. Some ran to the helicopters from the buses that took them to the landing pad.

They wore gray shirts and trousers with dark blue overcoats and blue-top tennis shoes. After they crossed the bridge, many donned heavy U.S. Navy parkas provided in the freezing temperature.

The men waved and smiled to newsmen and gave a thumbs-up signal.

"I can't begin to tell you how happy my crew is to see this side of the line that divides this country in two," said Bucher, who also smiled and waved as he entered his news conference.

The 41-year-old Pueblo skipper, with his gray hair in a short crew cut, shed his North Korean clothes for a Blue U.S. Navy casual outfit, with "Bucher," U.S. Navy and "Pueblo" marked on the jacket.

Destruction incomplete

"We were attacked on the open seas and captured on the open seas," Bucher told the newsmen. "All records we had on the ship proved that." But he added that the records were "conveniently either destroyed by them (the North Koreans) or at least never produced."

Asked about secret equipment and documents on the intelligence ship, Bucher said: "We made an attempt to destroy everything. We did not complete it."

He said the crewmen were subjected to beatings and terror in captivity, and many still had black eyes and bruised ribs from beatings as recent as last week. Bucher himself walked with a slight limp. He said he had been kicked occasionally and the Koreans are "quite good at soccer."

Bucher said he was kept in solitary confinement "the entire 11 months" but he was not beaten as much as the other crewmen.

"I was mostly terrified of possible beatings," he said. "We went through a harassment period that was never ending. Continued repetition of charges against us, which, eventually, of course, were admitted by myself in order to save some people from some fairly serious misfortunes."

Not Done Willfully

"But I never doubted in my mind that the United States government ever considered that I had disobeyed willfully or intentionally the instructions that I had received."

"Any doctoring of the record that has been done since that time (the capture) in the phony press conferences we held up north . . . would never stand up to the court of law."

The North Korean radio meanwhile boasted that the U.S. imperialists bent the knee again to the Korean people. "The Korean Central News Agency claimed the Pueblo crew, before their release, "confessed their crimes of espionage and intrusion into North Korea's territorial waters" at a news conference.

It said Hodges "met his death foolishly and recklessly resisting, disobeying the order of the naval force of the Korean people's army."

Washington released a text of the statement signed by Maj. Gen. Gilbert Woodward, the chief negotiator in the series of 29 meetings to obtain the release.

U. S. Statement

It said the U.S. government acknowledged "the validity of the confessions of the crew of the USS Pueblo . . . shedders full responsibility and solemnly apologizes for the grave acts of espionage . . . and gives firm assurance that no U.S. ships will intrude again in the future into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

But before signing it, the North Koreans allowed Woodward to reaffirm the U.S. insistence of its innocence in the affair.

He declared: "There is no convincing evidence that the ship at any time intruded into the territorial waters claimed by North Korea, and that we could not apologize for actions which we did not believe took place."

"The document which I am giving to the North Koreans and is at variance to sign was prepared by lance with the above position, but my signature will not and cannot alter the facts. I will sign the document to free the crew and only to free the crew."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington that North Korea's acceptance of the document under those circumstances was a "strange procedure" but that it apparently appealed to the Korean Communists because they see "propaganda value even in a worthless document."

Soviet Scientist Praises Courage Of Astronauts

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top space research scientist said today there is "some basis for fear" that the Apollo 8 astronauts will encounter radiation hazards during their moon flight.

He praised the three Americans for their courage and wished them "above all, a successful return to earth."

Dr. Georgy I. Petrov, director of the Soviet Institute for Cosmic Research, said he thought the Americans were taking unnecessary risks. He noted that the Apollo mission "is being undertaken at a time of great activity on the sun" which increases the intensity of radiation in outer space.

Petrov also pointed out the Soviet plan for manned flight calls for spacecraft with complete duplication of manual and automatic controls so that any pilot failure can be overcome by ground personnel or automatic devices.

"It seems to me," Petrov wrote in Pravda, "that such a system insures greater safety."

Apollo In Moon's Gravity Pull Today

gravity "barrier" in space. Borman, in fact, plans to be asleep, and Lovell and Anders are to be stowing their camera after completing a second television show from Apollo 8.

The area is called the "equigravisphere," where the pull of earth's gravity and that of the moon are equal.

Apollo 8, which started the trip toward the moon at earth escape speed of 24,196 miles per hour, has slowed gradually like an automobile coasting uphill to slightly more than 2,200 m.p.h.

The moon's gravity increases this over a period of several hours to almost 5,800 m.p.h. If allowed to continue at this speed, Borman, Lovell and Anders would hook once around the backside with sufficient velocity to swing back toward earth.

Borman Better

But the braking effect of the engine firing will prevent the flyby and inject Apollo 8 into an orbit which the astronauts are to fly for 20 hours on Christmas Eve and early Christmas Day.

There were a few anxious moments Sunday, second day of the mission, that the astronauts might have to be called back—or, at best, make only a quick flyaround of the moon and come home.

The problem was illness reported by all three crewmen. Borman was in the worst condition, suffering from what he diagnosed as a "24-hour flu, intestinal flu."

The spacecraft commander said he vomited, had diarrhea, chills and headaches during the early morning hours Sunday. But after resting he reported he was much better.

Not Up To Par

Lovell and Anders both said they weren't feeling up to par. Doctors were worried they would contract Borman's malady, and the mission control center considered shortening the mission.

Flight controllers shuffled the flight plan to give the astronauts extra sleeping time, and by today all three men were feeling quite good.

"We're all in fine shape up here," Borman reported. They appeared chipper Sunday afternoon when they beamed their first television show from Apollo 8.

"This program is coming to you from about halfway to the moon," Borman advised in narrating the 15-minute telecast.

There was disappointment when Anders pointed the camera out the window to give earthlings a view of their planet. The telephoto lens failed to work.

Kitchen Duty

Anders replaced it with the regular lens, but TV viewers saw only a white, shining, round blob on the screen.

Borman said he was sorry the picture wasn't better because "it is a beautiful, beautiful view."

Shots inside the cabin were excellent and showed the spacemen at work and play. Lovell performed kitchen duty, mixing up a chocolate pudding, Anders playfully chased a floating toothbrush to demonstrate weightlessness.

Lovell at one point turned the camera and said: "Happy birthday, mother," thrilling Mrs. Blanche Lovell of Edgewater, Fla., who became 73 on Sunday. Engineers on the ground hoped to work out the problem with the television camera in time to radio a solution to the astronauts so they can beam to earth pictures of the moon's rugged terrain.

Christmas Message

Borman, Lovell and Anders have promised pictures to the world as a Christmas present and they hinted they'll accompany them with an appropriate message for the season, possibly a wish for world peace and unity.

Borman, a lay reader at an Episcopal church near the Space Center, left a recorded message behind on earth—to be played at Christmas services in the church.

The astronauts will be behind the moon, out of radio communication with the ground, when they execute the critical engine firing that will propel them into moon orbit. The world will hold its breath for several minutes until Apollo 8 appears again around the lunar edge.

For two orbits, Apollo 8 is to circle in an elliptical orbit ranging from 69 to 196 miles high. Later, they will circularize the path at the 69-mile altitude.

After 10 orbits, the engine is to be fired again to boost Apollo 8 out of orbit and send it streaking back to earth and a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Friday.

Unless weather improves in the planned landing zone south of Hawaii, the astronauts might have to shift their splashdown point. Heavy showers and rain were forecast.

Honolulu's record maximum temperature is 88 degrees, record minimum is 57 degrees, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Alaskan's Snow-Go Is Stolen Locally

There has to be a first for everything and Escanaba has had its first snowmobile theft.

State Police, who investigated the theft of the snowmobile from a truck which Edward Spenser of Anchorage, Alaska parked on U.S. 2-41 a half mile north of the Escanaba city limit at 7 p.m. Saturday, recovered the machine from a railroad viaduct on U.S. 2-41 north of Escanaba.

Police said they thought the theft was in the category of car theft in the "driving without the owner's consent" and that the intention of the thieves was a joyride and not a theft, as the stolen machine was found abandoned on the viaduct after State Police had been assisted in the search for it by Robert Heyessen of Escanaba, using a snowmobile.

Barnum Home For Christmas

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Philip T. Barnum of Kalamazoo, Michigan's first heart transplant patient, went home today for Christmas in a relaxed but cautious mood.

He will return periodically to University Hospital at Ann Arbor as an outpatient beginning Friday.

Barnum, 49, and his wife, Aileen, held a brief news conference at the hospital before driving to their home late this morning.

Barnum received the heart of Herman Opdenhoff, 37, in an operation Sept. 19. The donor was an inmate at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Barnum met reporters with a grin and announced that he was "feeling good." He added, "I do a little walking, but I still have a way to go. I don't know that I like the distinction of being number one (among Michigan heart transplant patients) but I'm still among the living. I guess that's enough."

Barnum spoke from a wheelchair. Asked when he might stop using the chair, he said, "that depends on me. After six months in the hospital, my knees are a little weak. I'm a little reluctant to give up all these things."

Barnum has a heart patient at Ann Arbor's Veterans Administration hospital for several months before his operation.

Mrs. Barnum added, "He won't have a wheel chair at home, just a walking aid." She said her husband will be isolated from visitors for about a month.

Hospital spokesmen said Barnum received a shot of Hong Kong flu vaccine Saturday. Dr. Roger R. Nelson, associate director of University Hospital, acknowledged that Barnum is being released at a time when that strain of flu is at a peak in Michigan.

Mediator Called In To Settle Shippers' Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A presidential mediator has called for local-issue bargaining in Boston, Philadelphia and Hampton Roads, Va., as a strike by the International Longshoremen's Association continues to tie up ports from Maine to Texas.

Contract talks were set to resume at a Manhattan motel today between the IILA and the 140-firm New York Shipping Association.

"I think the federal government must take the initiative in procedure and move this along," said the mediator, David L. Cole, during Sunday's recess in talks.

Agreement has been reached on money issues for a new contract, and the main issue concerns whether longshoremen can repack certain cargo brought to the ships in containers. The union sees the use of containers to transfer cargo in bulk from trucks or railroad cars to ships as a threat to job security.

The New York shippers have offered to add $1.60 an hour to the present base pay of $4.62 an hour. They also would increase the current annual work guarantee from 1,600 to 2,060 hours, or a 40-hour-a-week, 52-week year.

Control Press On Release Talks Christmas Day

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command clamped tight controls today on press coverage of the Christmas Day meeting with the Viet Cong to discuss the possible release of three American prisoners.

While saying some details were still being prepared, spokesmen served notice that no news coverage will be allowed beyond what the command deems proper.

The official U.S. Embassy view is that every effort should be made to avoid giving the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front any advantage in what was clearly a major propaganda effort.

A spokesman said no Western or South Vietnamese newsmen would be permitted to cover the actual meeting. He said all information, including even names of the five-man U.S. delegation, would not be disclosed in advance.

Cubans Release U.S. Missionary

WAYNESBORO, Ga. (AP) — An American missionary says his release from prison by the Cuban government was unconditional but that he will not resume his Baptist missionary work there.

The Rev. J. David Fite, 36, said Sunday in a telephone interview from Havana that he, his wife and their two youngest children hope to return to the United States as soon as possible.

He did not say what was the status of his father-in-law, Dr. Herbert Caudill, 65, also a missionary, who was convicted with Fite in 1965 of illegally exchanging Cuban pesos for U.S. currency. They said they made the exchanges so refugees could buy airline tickets from Cuba. Both denied accusations that they spied for the United States.

Fite, a native of Fort Worth, Tex., was sentenced to six years in prison and Caudill, a Clinchport, Va., native who was director of Southern Baptist work in Cuba, was sentenced to 10 years.

Caudill was released from prison after undergoing eye surgery last year but was kept under house arrest.

Missing Boys Set For Bath

OXFORD (AP)— Phillip and Rodney Hardy, 2 and 3, were simply preparing to take a bath. Outside neighbors, police and even a tracking dog searched for them.

Oakland County deputy sheriff John Lamberton said the boys were found naked and ready to climb into the bath tub Friday when a neighbor found them. Also found, Lamberton said, was evidence that the boys had:

Entered the neighbor's trailer home, opened all their Christmas gifts, turned on the lights and television, sprayed the interior with bug spray, emptied dresser drawers and filled the tub with water and bubble bath.

They were found in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rex T. Ford. Lamberton left a note for the Fords who had no comment on the matter when reached Saturday.

The boys' mother, Glenda Hardy, notified authorities Friday that her sons were missing.

Lenore Romney Ill With Flu

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Mrs. George Romney, wife of Michigan's governor, was taken by ambulance to William Beaumont Hospital this morning, suffering from an "aggravated case of the flu," the executive office said.

Mrs. Romney apparently was ill over the weekend, a spokesman said, but the extent of her illness was unknown.

Romney showed no signs of illness at his morning news conference.

The name of Hart, a friend of baseball, popped out of Washington, D.C., for the $100,000-a-year job which was left up in the air by club owners dedicated to create a new image for the game.

Illinois Dumps Houston To Remain Undeclared

By The Associated Press
UCLA might be the best college basketball team in the rest of the country, but in Houston, unranked Illinois is tops.

The unheralded Fighting Illini all but put some ranking into their Christmas stocking by doing what no team, including UCLA, has been able to do in more than two years—beat Houston at Houston.

The Illini raised their record to 7-0 with a 97-84 victory that ended Houston's 60-game home winning streak and put Illinois in a good spot to at least replace the Cougars as the nation's 20th-ranked team.

Not even UCLA, the NCAA champion the last two years, can equal that performance. The Bruins crushed West Virginia 95-56 for their 68th victory in 69 games, but the only defeat was to Houston last season in the Astrodome.

UCLA's victory represented a final tuneup for this weekend's Holiday Festival in New York and for All-American Lew Alcindor and his pulled tendon in his left arch. Both passed easily as the Bruins jumped to a 47-34 halftime lead and breezed and Alcindor scored 19 points and the baseball brass failed to agree and wearily ended with a stalemate at 6:15 a.m., EST, Saturday.

The balloting to select a successor for the dismissed Gen. William Eckert was diffused by at least six candidates and all but one of them now appear to be out of the picture altogether. Possibly, the lone remaining hopeful in the group is career baseball man Lee MacPhail, Eckert's first assistant who resigned to become vice president of the New York Yankees.

It was a tug-of-war between the traditionalist, Chub Feeney, and the so-called Young Turk ringleader, suave Mike Burke, through 10 ballots.

Feeney, vice president of the San Francisco Giants and a nephew of the club's owner, Horace Stoneham, had the required minimum of nine NL votes but couldn't swing it through the AL. Burke, president of the Yankees, couldn't put it through the NL.

With this checkmate, presumably both contenders now are out of the race. Also gone from the list, if the balloting is a criterion, are Joe Cronin, AL president and Circuit Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, former player-counsel.

In the late balloting, John McHale became a compromise choice of the AL which gave him nine votes. McHale, former Eckert executive and general manager of the Detroit Tigers and Milwaukee-Atlanta Braves, decided to stay as head man of the new Montreal Expos.

He withdrew from the commissioner race without even giving his NL colleagues a chance to vote on him.

Finally, it got down to MacPhail. It looked as if he were on the move in the 18th ballot, getting nine AL votes and four from the NL. But on the 19th ballot, three of his four NL backers passed.

"The owners just thought that by this time they were too tired and thought-weary, and this just wasn't the way to select a commissioner," said spokesman Frank Dale, Cincinnati Reds president. "That's when we adjourned. They stuck it out as long as they could. They really wanted to get the job done."

"Now, I expect, it will be 30 or 40 days before we meet again."

Chamberlain Sparkles As Lakers Edge 76ers

By The Associated Press
Wilt Chamberlain got his wish to play 48 minutes, and it turned out to be not a minute too many.

The outspoken center for Los Angeles, whose opinions over his amount of playing time and other matters has made headlines, played all 48 minutes Sunday night and sparked in the Lakers' 102-99 victory over Philadelphia.

Dominating play, Chamberlain scored 17 points, grabbed 22 rebounds and blocked four shots as the Lakers took a 75-63 lead in the third period and then held off the 76ers.

In the only other National Basketball Association game, Milwaukee beat visiting Phoenix 127-116 in the battle of the beaters.

On Saturday night, Baltimore tripped Phoenix 131-117. San Francisco clobbered Philadelphia 109-94. Boston defeated Chicago 102-94. New York mauled Seattle 131-105. San Diego whipped Cincinnati 132-124 and Atlanta tumbled Detroit 120-110.

blocked numerous shots while playing without a limp. The UCLA meet Providence in the first round Friday night of the tournament that also includes second-ranked North Carolina and eighth-rated Villanova.

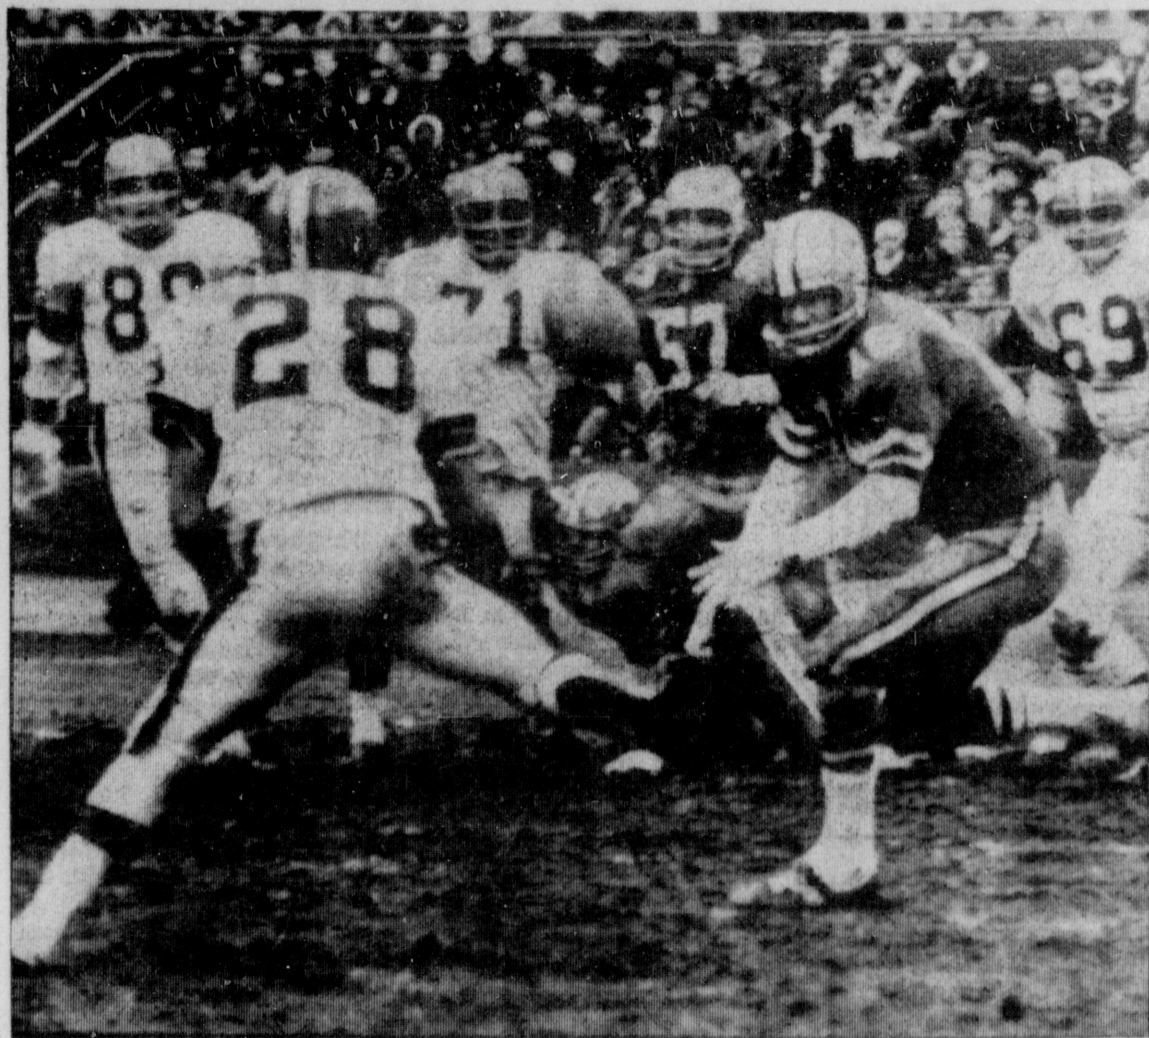

Villanova had an easy tune-up, belting Catholic U., 77-47. North Carolina was idle.

Davidson, No. 3, also was idle before heading into the Charlotte Invitational this weekend as the heavy favorite against Texas, Maryland and Wichita State. Cincinnati, No. 6, and Santa Clara, No. 10, rested, too.

The rest of the Top Ten played true to form, led by fourth-ranked Kentucky, which beat undefeated Army 80-65 to win its own tournament, and New Mexico, No. 5, which captured its Lobo Tournament by dropping Temple 83-70.

Notre Dame, No. 7, outscored Indiana 104-94, and St. Bonaventure, No. 9, hammered Illinois Wesleyan 109-76.

Illinois should have plenty of room to move up as Houston, Purdue, No. 12, California, No. 15, and Western Kentucky, No. 18, all lost last week.

Bruins Top Canadiens; Take Over First Place

By The Associated Press

Santa Claus visited Boston early and dropped a delightful present under the Bruins' tree—first place in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Faced with consecutive weekend games against first place Montreal, the Bruins responded by tying the Canadiens Saturday night 0-0 and then wiping out a three-goal deficit for a 7-5 victory Sunday that moved them into the top spot.

For the record, it has been 28 years since Boston finished first and although it's a long way until the end of the season, the Bruins could be tough to move out of the No. 1 slot.

In Sunday's other NHL games, New York ended an eight-game winless streak with a 4-2 victory over Minnesota, Detroit beat Toronto 3-2 on a pair of disputed goals, Chicago downed Pittsburgh 3-1 and Oakland nipped Philadelphia 2-1.

The Rangers snapped an eight-game winless string despite a 45-save performance by Cesare Maniago, Minnesota's goalie. Reg Fleming's power play goal—the Rangers' first tally with a manpower edge in 23 attempts over two weeks—broke a 2-2 tie in the third period.

Wayne Connelly and Claude Larose had scored goals 61 seconds apart against Gilles Villeneuve, giving the North Stars a quick edge. But goals by Jim Neilson and Don Marshall put the Rangers in business and then Fleming's goal put them in front to stay. Villeneuve was filling in for Ed Giacomin, out with a bruised left shoulder.

Pete Stenkowski and Pete Mahovich scored the disputed Detroit goals that gave the Red Wings their victory over Toronto.

Wayne Connelly and Claude Larose had scored goals 61 seconds apart against Gilles Villeneuve, giving the North Stars a quick edge. But goals by Jim Neilson and Don Marshall put the Rangers in business and then Fleming's goal put them in front to stay. Villeneuve was filling in for Ed Giacomin, out with a bruised left shoulder.

to and ended an eight-game unbeaten string for the Maple Leafs. Pete's brother, Frank, an ex-Leaf like Stenkowski, scored the other Detroit goal.

Stenkowski scored the eventual winning goal when he beat goalie Bruce Gamble after defenseman Kent Douglas had battered the puck over his head from Detroit's end. The Leafs argued that Douglas had lifted his stick over his shoulder and that the play should have been whistled dead.

Earlier Mahovich scored on a play which Toronto argued was off-side. Mild-mannered Dave Keon argued so vehemently that he drew a 10-minute misconduct penalty. Only once in his nine NHL seasons has Keon drawn as many as 10 minutes in penalties.

Billy Hicke's goal midway in the third period enabled Oakland to edge Philadelphia and move into a tie for second with the Los Angeles in the West. The Seals never have lost to the Flyers since they became expansion clubs last season.

Gary Jarrett gave Oakland a 1-0 lead at the outset of the first period before Brit Selby produced the equalizer for Philadelphia early in the second stanza.

Oliver E. Kuehler, associate sports editor of the Milwaukee Journal, said in his column Sunday that Lombardi told him last week that he is not interested in parting company with the Packers. However, he quoted Lombardi as saying, "The day they take away from my authority, that day I leave."

Green Bay, National Football League champions the past three years, slumped to third place in the Central Division this season after Phil Bengtson succeeded Lombardi as head coach.

Lombardi's name has been linked in rumors at various times with the Philadelphia Eagles and New Orleans Saints of the NFL and the American Football League Miami Dolphins and New York Jets.

In the consolation game Bill Watt of Michigan State University went on a scoring binge leading the Spartans to a 4-2 victory over Michigan.

Watt scored all four goals. The four goals Saturday tied a single-game tournament scoring record. Combined with a single in the tourney opener, Watts claimed a tournament record of five goals.

Henry Montieth of Toronto scored four goals against Michigan Tech in a 6-2 championship victory in 1965.

Watt was named the tournament's most valuable player in voting by sportswriters Saturday night. Watt was also placed on the all-tournament team in the wing position.

Another junior, Dave Perrin of Michigan, was named to the other wing on the all-tournament squad.

Champion Michigan Tech placed three players on the squad: center John Haines, the Tech captain; junior Gordon McRae, goal; and junior Ken DesJardine, defenseman.

Browns, Colts, Raiders Score Weekend Victories

By The Associated Press

Blanton Collier was tossing bouquets at the Baltimore Colts today while Weeb Ewbank flung superlatives in the Oakland Raiders' direction.

The praise-makers will spend the rest of the week figuring ways to tear down the high-flying Colts and Raiders in next Sunday's Super Bowl semifinals.

It won't be easy. Collier's Cleveland Browns bushwacked the Dallas Cowboys 31-20 Saturday for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title, then watched the Colts wreck Minnesota 24-14 Sunday for the Western crown.

"They were tremendous," Collier said of the streaking Colts, who play the Browns in Cleveland Sunday for the NFL championship.

Ewbank's New York Jets, Eastern Division kings in the American Football League, were keenly interested observers as the Raiders demolished the Kansas City Chiefs 41-6 Sunday in a playoff for the Western title.

The Raiders, defending AFL champs, meet the Jets at New York Sunday for the league pennant, with the winner taking on the NFL titlist in the Jan. 12 Super Bowl at Miami.

"Oakland's a great football team... they showed that today... and this victory will make them all the more confident," Ewbank said following the one-sided Western showdown, in which Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica riddled the favored Chiefs with five touchdowns.

The Cleveland pilot and Jets manager-coach weren't alone in paying tribute to the Colts and Raiders. Sunday's winners left painful impressions on Coach Bud Grant and quarterback Joe Kapp of the Vikings and Kansas City Coach Hank Stram.

"A great football team," Grant said of the Colts, who shut out Minnesota until the last quarter and rolled to their ninth consecutive victory, ruining the Vikings' first post-season fling.

"I don't think we could have played better against them," Kapp, who passed for 287 yards and ran for 52 more despite constant harassment from the bruising Baltimore defensive unit, called the Colts "definitely the finest football team I've ever seen."

Stram, whose club fielded a score a touchdown for the first time in five years, said the Raiders "just beat us. They're just great. Lamonica's a great quarterback."

Lamonica broke the game open early, firing scoring passes converging 24 yards to Fred Biletnikoff, 23 to Warren Wells and 44 to Biletnikoff for a 21-0 first period bulge. He hit Biletnikoff again with a 54-yard payoff pitch before halftime and connected with Wells in the fourth period on a 45-yard scoring play.

"If it wasn't our best defensive effort, it certainly was one of them," said Oakland Coach John Rauch, whose team also has won nine in a row.

Earl Morrall tossed two touchdown passes and linebacker Mike Curtis scored on a 60-yard jaunt with a fumble recovery as the Colts stamped to a 21-0 lead, then eased to their 15th victory in 16 games.

The Browns converted four pass interceptions with 24 points on the way to their upset victory over Dallas. Linebacker Dale Lindsay picked off a Don Meredith pass and rambled 27 yards for the key touchdown. Leroy Kelly scored twice for Cleveland on a 45-yard pass from Bill Nelsen and a 35-yard run.

Collier praised the Browns for "the greatest defensive effort for a team that has played for me."

Cleveland linebacker Jim Houston put it another way: "They'd run at us... and we'd knock them down."

Fuller Defeated In Derby Hearing

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Racing Commission today upheld the stewards at Churchill Downs in disqualifying Dancer's Image from the winner's purse in the 1968 Kentucky Derby.

The commission, after hearing 14 days of testimony, agreed with the stewards that the colt, owned by Boston sportsman Peter Fuller, had phenylbutazone or a derivative of the drug in his system during the running of the May 4 Derby.

Phenylbutazone, which a Churchill Downs chemist said was found in the colt's urine after the race, is an illegal medication under Kentucky racing rules.

Arthur Grafton, an attorney for Fuller indicated an appeal might be made to the courts, but said no final decision would be made until he talked to Fuller.

Fuller was reported in Boston. George Egger, racing commission chairman, said the final order redistributing the Derby purse would be entered "shortly."

"While the commission is announcing its decision today," Egger said, "the final order for the purpose of appeal... will not be entered until detailed findings of fact and conclusions of law have been prepared, adopted and filed by the commission."

"The time for the taking of any such appeal will not begin to run until the entry of that final order," Egger said.

Grafton immediately asked for a complete transcript of the commission's hearing to be prepared and attested by the commission. He said that was the first step in an appeal if one were to be made.

The commission's decision means the $122,600 first money in the 1 1/4 mile Derby goes to Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, which finished second to Dancer's Image.

What has become known as the "test tube Derby" began to unfold on Tuesday, three days after the running of the race when Churchill Downs announced Smith's discovery of the medication in Dancer's Image's urine.

The Churchill Downs stewards held a lengthy hearing the following week and issued a ruling redistributing the purse.

Fuller immediately appealed the stewards' ruling to the State Racing Commission, contending the tests used by Smith and his associates didn't necessarily prove phenylbutazone was present in the urine.

He further charged the tests were inconclusive, inaccurate and that Smith failed to keep proper records of what he had done.

Meantime, Dancer's Image, a son of Native Dancer, was retired to stud. His value there hinges to some degree on the final outcome of his Derby credentials.

Michigan Breaks Federal Law With Hamburger

By JACQUELINE KORONA Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — The hamburger you buy at the corner grocery better not have any hearts, lungs or kidneys ground up with the meat.

That's against state standards for comminuted (ground) meat. But chances are you might find those ingredients in hamburgers you get in other states.

Therein lies the problem — and an apparent case of Michigan breaking federal law.

Standards set up in the new U. S. wholesome meat act allow use of such organs as hearts and lungs, stomach linings (tripe) and soya protein or protein concentrates in comminuted meats.

And the federal law says that no state complying with it shall have stricter standards.

Michigan's standards, however, are stricter.

Highest In Nation

They ban use of organs, call for 12 per cent protein instead of the federally directed 10 per cent and specify that the protein must be from animals.

"Michigan's standards are the highest in the nation," says John Calkins, deputy director of the State Agriculture Department, which is responsible for inspecting slaughterhouses and comminuted meat processing plants.

"We think that we have good standards and we are going to adhere to them," he adds.

"We would be happy to accept the other provisions of the Federal Wholesome Meat Act, but this question of lowering our standards to comply is one matter that could lead to controversy."

Dr. George Whitehead, deputy department director heading the regulatory bureau, says if Michigan is breaking the federal law, "we're breaking it on the positive side."

In Sausage

"We just don't think their federal standards are high enough," he said.

"When you're paying for meat, we think it ought to be good wholesome meat. And we don't think (items banned by Michigan) are proper ingredients for commuted meat."

Whitehead explains that some processors include the banned materials in their sausage, hamburger, luncheon meats and weiners because it costs less and means a bigger profit.

"It's cheaper to fill a casting with tripe than striated muscle," he says.

Some companies, he says, have special production lines for products they send to Michigan in order to comply with the state standards.

"The food inspection division checks on this," he says. "The lab runs tests on the products and if they find ingredients that don't comply with Michigan standards, the processors are brought in for a hearing."

Court Case

"Occasionally we find products that don't comply," he says, "and it's usually because something got in the wrong shipment — one intended for another state."

The department has three or four cases a year, he says.

There was talk about some companies taking Michigan to court because their standards are higher than federal ones, but nothing has yet materialized.

"I don't expect too much to happen," Whitehead says. "I rather think the federal government will consider its standards again. There has been some indication that they would increase standards."

Meanwhile, Whitehead says, Michigan's sausage industry likes the state standards and has asked that they be retained.

"They like higher quality products," he says. "They have a reputation for it and they think that is worthwhile."

Fly Pueblo Families To San Diego Reunion

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Mrs. Thomas Barrett wouldn't give up hope of seeing her Pueblo crewman-husband again.

Ursula Barrett, wife of Communications Technician 1C Michael Thomas Barrett, emphasized that: "I never gave up hope. I couldn't afford to."

Now, after 11 months, her hoping has paid off. Barrett and the other 81 crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo are expected to arrive tonight in San Diego.

Six of the ship's crew have relatives in Michigan. The men crossed the North Korean border to freedom in the south (Monday) after long negotiations were concluded between U.S. and North Korean officials at Panmunjom, North Korea.

Mrs. Barrett, living in Kalamazoo, said "It was a really big surprise," but added, "I always thought they'd finally be released."

Her two children, she said, "are so wound up you wouldn't believe it."

Phoned Sunday

Mrs. Barrett said a Navy spokesman telephoned her Sunday afternoon and said she was to fly to San Diego for the arrival.

Engineer fireman apprentice Richard Ivan Bame, another Michigan man released, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bame of Maybee in Monroe County. Bame's wife Linda lives in Willis in Washtenaw County.

Mrs. Bame also said the Navy informed her the men would arrive in San Diego tonight and she would fly there this afternoon.

Mrs. William Drehoel of Portage is a sister of Lt. Edward Benz Murphy Jr. of San Francisco, another of the released crewmen. She said she was "just delighted" with the news of the release of the brother she hasn't seen for 3½ years.

She said she has seen pictures of Murphy since his capture but that "he looked extremely thin, very bedraggled, like the diet wasn't up to par."

Hasn't Seen Child

Murphy's wife and two children live in California. He has never seen the youngest, eight months old.

Mrs. Drehoel said the 31-year-old Murphy was a navigator aboard the Pueblo.

"I'm delighted; I'm very, very happy," she said Sunday. "I have been on cloud nine ever since hearing of the release."

Photographer's Mate 1C Lawrence W. Mack of Livonia was another of the 82 men set free. His wife Kathleen now lives in San Diego.

The fifth man with a relative in Michigan is Communications Technician Anthony A. Lamanita 21, of Steubenville, Ohio. Sister JoAnn, a Dominican nun who teaches at St. Clair School in Grosse Pointe Park, is Lamanita's sister.

The sixth Michigan crewman is Engineer Lawrence E. Strickland, whose wife, Flavia, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence O. Strickland, live in Grand Rapids.

Sleeping Pills Aid Tired Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The three Apollo 8 astronauts had varying degrees of luck getting to sleep over the weekend.

Only Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., appeared to have little trouble snoozing. Through Sunday night he was the only one who had not asked for sleeping tablets.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, the command pilot, was the first to try for some shut-eye Saturday, and the first to ask for a Second, described as a short-acting sleeping pill. Permission was given.

Lovell and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders got to sleep all right during their first rest cycle Saturday. But late Sunday Anders decided he needed a sleeping pill and ground controllers concurred.

Inner City Plan Goes To Council

DETROIT (AP)—A $20 million plan for inner city action was submitted today to the Detroit Common Council.

The plan calls first for better housing for residents of the inner city. Drawing up the blueprint was the 102-man Citizens Governing Board (CGB), speaking for residents of the inner city.

After housing the group listed employment, health and education as primary needs of people in an area bounded roughly by Hamtramck, downtown Detroit, Mt. Elliott on the east and Grand River and the New York Central Railroad tracks on the east—an area of about 19 square miles.

The group asks that its blueprint be used in Detroit's share of the federal Model City funds. Specifics included:

—A model neighborhood police precinct with civilian review boards for each of several suggested subprecincts.

—A joint development council of CGB members and city officials who would promote better housing.

—A five-year program to raise incomes in the area.

—Citizens councils to participate in school decisions.

—Offices in each school to pass out information on benefits available to them, but for which they do not apply because of lack of knowledge.

—Prepaid health insurance for all inner city residents.

Numerous other reforms were suggested in the package.

The group indicated in a statement that it was prepared for a lengthy attack on the ill of the inner city:

"The belief that all goals can be fully achieved within five years is perhaps a pleasant fiction. Conditions which have been developed over 50 years cannot all be corrected in five."

Board Member Takes Son Out Of Public School

LIVONIA (AP) — Because of what he described as "the lack of direction and discipline in the school and the lack of getting parents involved," a member of the State Board of Education has withdrawn his 16-year-old son from a public school.

James F. O'Neil, 44, said he was forced to transfer his son, Mark, from Stevens High School in Livonia to Detroit Central Catholic High School. O'Neil says the boy is now "getting moral instruction every day in the classroom."

"Our whole program takes in moral and ethical values," responded Benton Yates, superintendent of the Livonia school district. He said he was interested in working out the differences with O'Neil and the state board member said this week-end in an interview that he was willing to discuss the matter.

Although O'Neil says the whole Livonia school system is too permissive, a younger son remains at a public elementary school.

Antifilibuster Rule Up For Senate Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., sought the support of their colleagues Sunday for another effort to change the Senate's antifilibuster rule.

The attempt will be made soon after the 91st Congress convenes Jan. 3.

In letters sent to all other members, the two senators said President-elect Nixon, when vice president, ruled several times that a majority of the Senate of a new Congress can act at the opening to determine the rules governing its operation. They said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who will be presiding Jan. 3, has taken the same position.

This argument—that a majority of the Senate can fix its rules when a new Congress meets—has been used by foes of the present filibuster rule in all of the attempts made to change it over the last several years, but they have not been able to make it stick.

Turkey Dinner For Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts will be up to 200,000 miles out in space on Christmas Day, but they'll still have a traditional Christmas turkey dinner.

And it'll be real turkey, not freeze dehydrated.

The turkey meat was prepared by the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories and packaged in airtight foil. The turkey is much like meat that has been canned. It's cut in slices and the astronauts will eat it with a spoon.

Packaged with the dinner are cranberry-apple sauce, coffee and a grape drink. These items are freeze dehydrated.

And to give it a festive air, the packages are tied with red ribbons.

Joy and Peace at Christmas

Around us, the wonder of Christmas spreads its joy and warmth. The radiance of a Star shines into our hearts, as once it shone above a sacred manger, heralding the miracle of the Holy Birth. As you observe Christmas with those near and dear to you, may you rejoice anew at the true, deep meaning of this most glorious time. And may the peace and joy of the season be an ever present blessing, to light the way for all men, everywhere.

Senior Citizen Housing Now Assured

Go Ahead Signal Flashed On Tower

Escanaba got the green light on its project to provide housing for the elderly when Howard Smale, administrative assistant to City Manager George Harvey, visited Chicago yesterday and got final federal approval of the project.

"Now nothing can stop us from getting this housing," said Smale.

The agreement was tri-lateral; signed by John Gannon, president of the Escanaba Housing Commission, by William Bergeron, Chicago, assistant regional administrator for housing assistance for the U.S. Department of Housing and Rakita & Blumenfeld has agreed to be responsible for the moving of the persons now living on the site, but the Housing Commission has now accepted responsibility and this is satisfactory all around.

The contract is for $2,550,448 and Rakita & Blumenfeld will have 18 months from the date of signing to complete the contract. Construction work on the tower is expected to start by March 1, Smale said.

This housing for the elderly is a major achievement for the City of Escanaba in its master development plan. Next in line is housing for low income families. The possibilities of a turnkey project to provide such housing will be explored and refined by the Escanaba City Planning Commission. The Housing Commission has made application for federal aid on 50 units of such housing in order to get on the HUD priority list, but there has been no study of the project in depth yet. It is known that the need for such housing exists, said Smale, but the degree of need and the resources to meet it are still to be developed, he said.

Before adjourning Council commended the Retail Division of the Top 'O The Lake Chamber of Commerce, Edison Sault Electric Co., and all who donated labor and materials to the Christmas lighting, recently installed on the city's main streets.

Council also approved payment of $1,945.86 to Roemer Electric for materials and labor and $1,132 individual labor costs for installation of the new lights.

'Stique Plows Can't Keep Up

MANISTIQUE — City council will meet in special session Friday afternoon at 4:30 to hear a progress report on the preliminary survey of the Manistique harbor improvement program.

Kenneth Buckland of Northern Michigan Engineers, Escanaba, scheduled to address council during the regular meeting Monday night, was unable to attend, City Manager Robert Noe said.

Noe reported on the progress of the Senior Citizens Housing Project and said that workmen were beginning to brick the frames. Ground was broken for the 35-unit complex in October, with construction expected to be completed in late spring or early summer.

Noe also said that although city crews have been working 16 hours a day for the past few days, it is physically impossible to keep up with the need for snow removal. Some of the plows start out at 2 a.m. in an effort to keep city streets clear, he said.

And several traffic tickets have already been issued to motorists who have left their cars parked on city streets, hampering the snow removal effort.

Noe warned that motorists will continue to be ticketed for overnight street parking.

Before adjourning Council commended the Retail Division of the Top 'O The Lake Chamber of Commerce, Edison Sault Electric Co., and all who donated labor and materials to the Christmas lighting, recently installed on the city's main streets.

Council also approved payment of $1,945.86 to Roemer Electric for materials and labor and $1,132 individual labor costs for installation of the new lights.

Apollo 8 Also Has 'Rest Stops'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — As they neared the moon Monday night, the Apollo 8 astronauts faced a situation familiar to many a traveler on earth: How far to the next rest stop?

Every few hours during the flight, the astronauts open a valve to dump excess water, including urine, overboard. Because Apollo 8 is sailing through a vacuum, the dump exerts a small amount of thrust on the ship and alters its course ever so slightly.

In moon orbit, ground stations want to know the course precisely. So Monday night they scheduled the last water dump before the astronauts leave lunar orbit early Wednesday, and added this comment:

"This is the last gas station for awhile."

Windsor, Ontario, is Canada's most southerly city.

Chain Mishaps Tie Up 100 Cars

HARPER WOODS (AP) — The involved in a second accident at Christmas rush ground to a shrieking halt on the Edsel Ford Expressway in suburban Harper Woods Monday night as four accidents involving almost 100 cars tied up traffic for more than five hours.

No one was believed killed or even seriously injured.

The bumping got under way at about 4:30 p.m. when a truck jackknifed trying to avoid a minor mishap and wound up prowled across all three westbound lanes. Sixty more cars skidded into one another trying to avoid the truck, police said.

No sooner had four police units and twelve wreckers cleared the debris from the first accident than another car skidded and twenty more autos were Grosse Pointe Shores and St. Clair Shores departments under a mutual assistance pact. State Police were not involved.

The freeway finally was cleared and salted after St. Clair Shores police blocked east-bound traffic ahead of the accident scene long enough for salt trucks to operate.

Orange pekoe designates tea with large leaves; the term has nothing to do with flavor or quality.

Eastern Opens Regional Schools

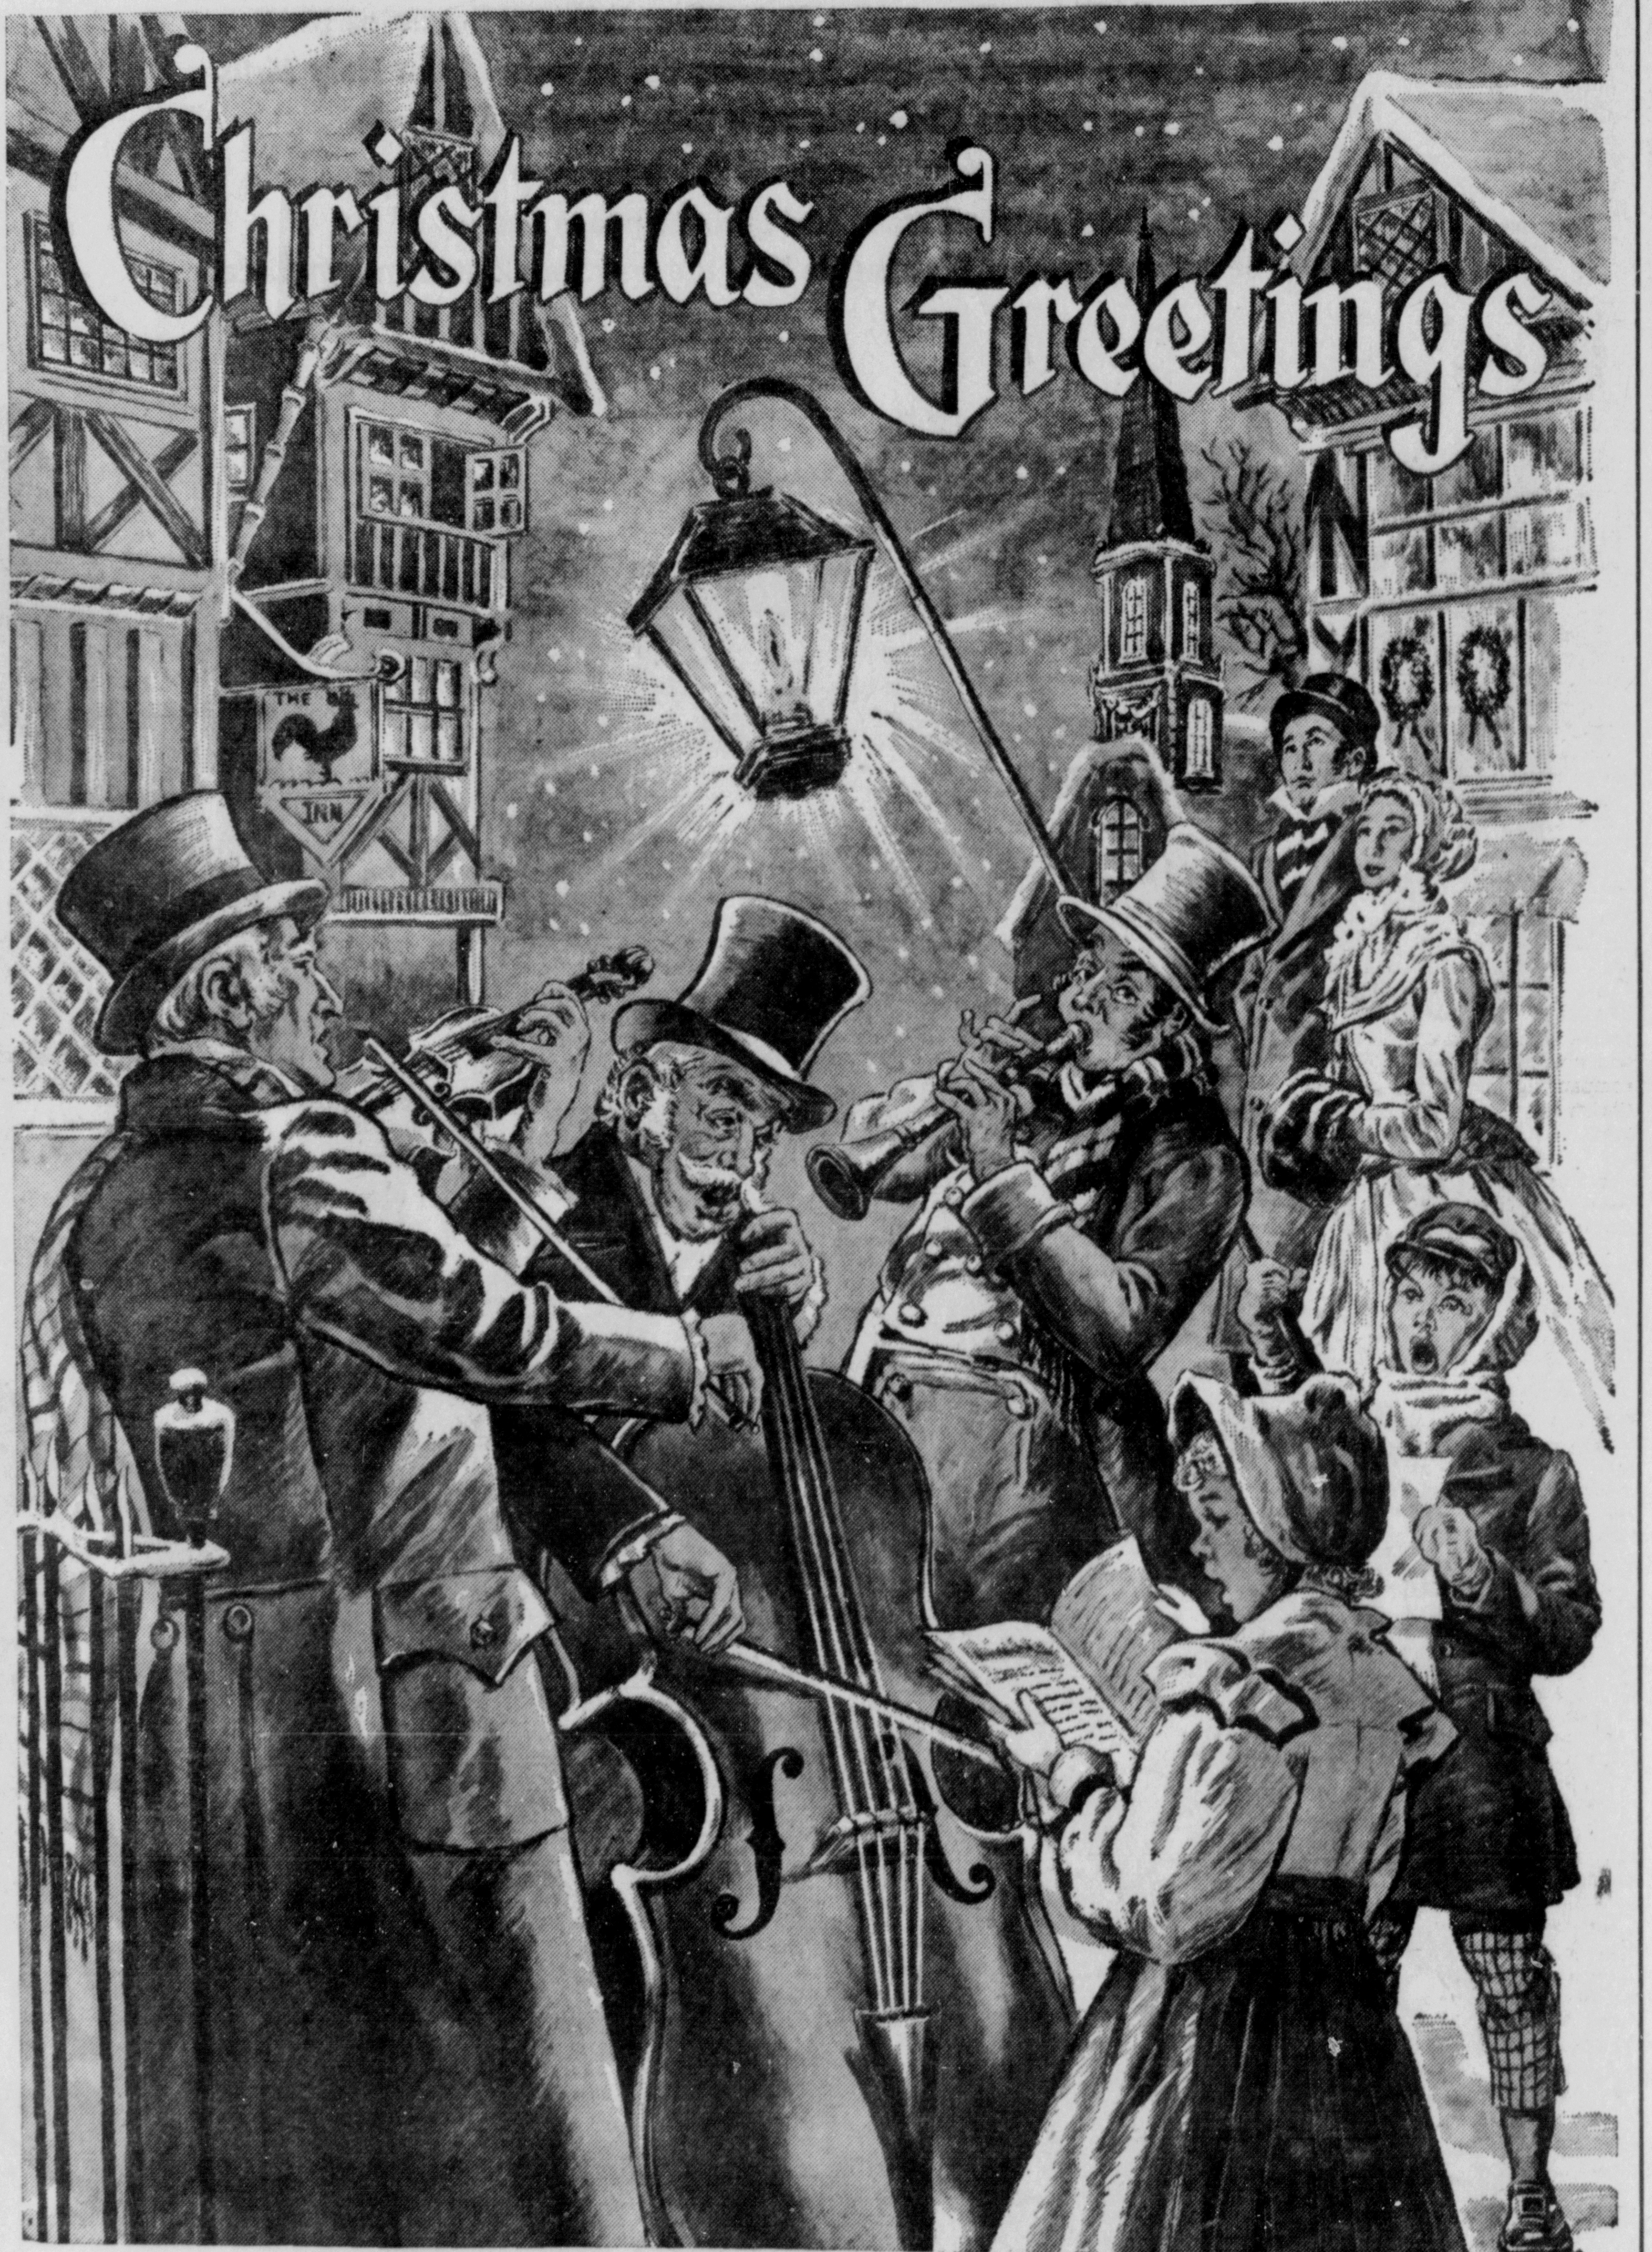

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan University will open a regional community school development center Jan. 1. The center, financed by a $36,050 Mott Foundation grant, will work with selected school districts on community problems.

The center's programs will run at least six months. The districts will be in Southeastern Michigan, Genesee County and in the Toledo area.

We wish to thank our customers for their loyal patronage. See you again as usual Thursday, Dec. 26th.

Christmas Is A Personal Joy

you're eating and there's lots of ways to cook 'em. We farmers have got to live, too."

(U. P. newspaper heading, June 1, 1910: "Spuds 15 cents a bushel and 28 ways to cook them.")

Rev. Frederick A. Kuder, Presbyterian: "We're pleased to give all you children candy at our Christmas party, but it's just a little gift in the holiday spirit and not really what Christmas is about. Christmas is the Christ Child bringing hope to the world."

Wally Seidl, grocer: "Eating habits don't seem to change a great deal. The food is better, and more of it is processed now. People don't crack their own nuts any more and I don't sell many cluster raisins. Christmas dinner may not seem as great as it used to be because all of our meals now are a feast compared to those in the old days."

Pat Scanlan: "They used to let the married men in the logging camps go home for Christmas. It was the only big break in their winter. Many mill companies wouldn't even let the men out of the camps to vote; they were afraid that they'd never get them back in the woods again. So letting them go home for Christmas was something very special."

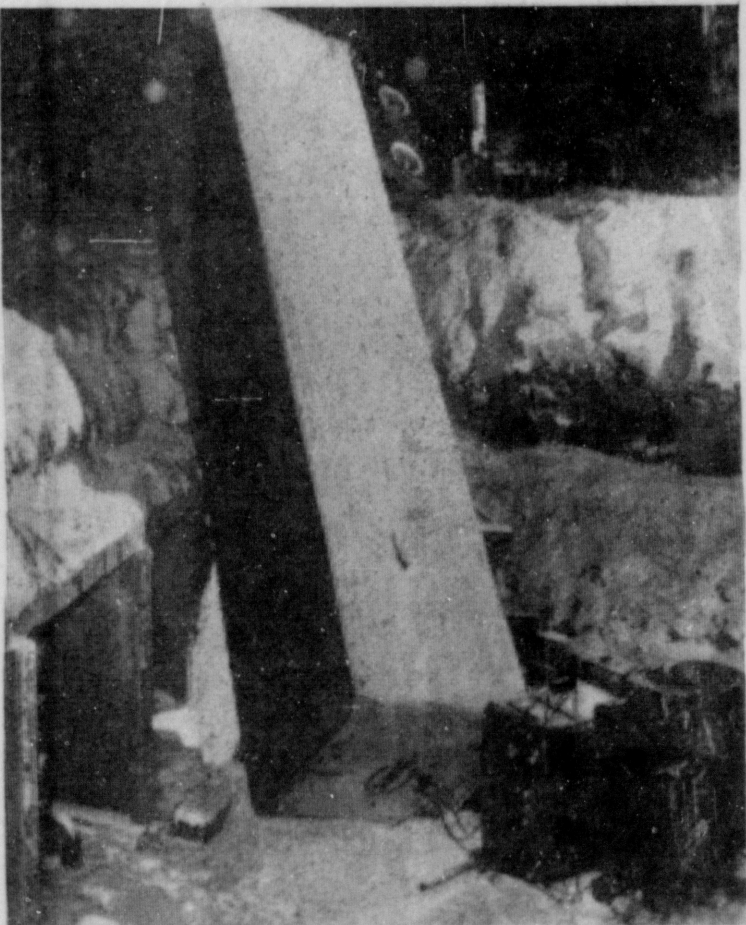

Mrs. Mary VanCalligan: "For Christmas (1870) we just made a tree. Mother decorated it with pictures cut out of magazines, and with cookies like horses and dogs and such and with a lot of colored stick candy. We poured our candies ourselves and we made them smaller for the Christmas tree. And mother made little ducks and eggs and nests out of pastry, and ginger-bread-men with red sugar on their hats."

Julia Desmond, English teacher: "Christ is the mystique of Christmas, of course, stirring the mind to goodness. It's interesting that our forefathers, simple people living simple lives close to the soil, welcomed make believe. Like Santa Claus. It was an escape from the hard realism of their lives. Now we are more sophisticated but oddly we seem to feel just as much need for make believe. Reality isn't enough by itself. We need that extra dimension of fancy. Ho, Ho, Ho, yourself, Santa."

Grant Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development Monday increased a Pontiac urban renewal grant by $29,765. The addition brings Pontiac's total grant to $6,075,862.

The earth is composed of six thousand quintillion tons of water, air and rock; the sun contains 350,000 times more matter.

SOME CHICAGO RESIDENTS will get their mail late because of this accident on U. S. 41 just west of here early this morning. The driver, Dennis Umlauf, West Allis, Wis., told police the wind caught his semi-trailer unit, which struck a parked construction trailer and plunged over a 35-foot embankment. He was unhurt. The truck was bound from Iron Mountain, Mich., to Chicago with 50 bags of mail. (AP Wirephoto)
